GRAF ZEPPELIN TAKES OFF FOR RIO DE JANEIRO

Two Members of Airship Crew Burned While Filling Tanks.

INJURIES REPORTED AS NOT DANGEROUS

Brazilian City Prepares Tremendous Welcome for Dirigible.

HUNDREDS TO GATHER ON TOP OF MOUNTAIN

Winds May Prevent Landing; Eckener Plans Visit Farther South.

Pernambuco, Brazil, May 23 (A.P.).—The Graf Zeppelin winged her way into the tropical night at 11:55 p. m. (9:55 p. m. Eastern standard time), last night for a voyage of 1,250 miles to Rio de Janeiro and Southern Brazil.

Two of the airship's crew were burned during the operation of replenishing the gas supply. Their injuries were not dangerous, however. The Graf slowly rose and within five minutes from the time th mooring rops were cast off, she was away for the south.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, accompanied by the German consul, Brazilian functionaries and members of the German colony, arrived at the field at 10 p. m. A great crowd of curious countrymen and citizens of Pernambuco stood behind the police lines at Campo GiQuia, watching the preparations. The passengers, who arrived at the same time as Dr. Eckener, were aboard the airship shortly after 11.

The commander of the Graf was reported to be planning to fly over the German colonies in the far Southern States of Santa Catherina, Parana and Rio Grande do Sul. It was believed he might attempt a landing at Sao Paulo.

Rio Plans Welcome.

Rio de Janeiro, May 23 (A.P.).—This city is preparing a tremendous welcome for the Graf Zeppelin. All government offices will be closed at Rio and business houses and shops will release their employes early for a glimpse of the Graf.

The company that runs the aerial cable line to the famous Pao d'Assuca (Sugar Loaf Mountain), which rises 1,200 feet above the sea at the entrance to the bay, have arranged for a special service by which hundreds of spectators will be able to crowd on this vantage point. The Zeppelin, on entering the headlands, will be flying almost on their own level.

May Not Land.

Though the Zeppelin will pass over Rio de Janeiro tomorrow, and possibly Sao Paulo, the chances were considered two to one here that she could not make a brief landing here. Dr. Eckener hopes to land for a short time at the aviation field of Campo Dos Affonsos, but adverse winds have so diminshed the chances for this that he advised by telegraph three passengers who hoped to embark here for the flight to Lakehurst, N. J., to take a plane to Pernambuco and join the Zeppelin there.

The three are W. B. Leeds, American millionaire, who came to Rio de Janeiro to make the flight to the United States; J. H. Durrell, of the National City Bank, and Valentine Boucas, Brazilian business man. They are expected to leave for Pernambuco tomorrow.

At Campos Dos Affonsos, however, everything will be in readiness for the Graf if Dr. Eckener wishes to attempt a landing. Gen. Mariante, chief of the Brazilian army air forces, has assembled 300 air force men as a landing crew.

Troops Held Ready.

Four troops of cavalry and four companies of infantry will mount guard around the ship.

Passengers for Rio de Janeiro, if unable to land, will return to Pernambuco and then make the trip by airplane.

The uncertainty about the Graf's landing here also extends to the date on which the Zeppelin will leave Pernambuco for Havana and Lakehurst, and even to the route that she will follow on the Rio de Janeiro flight.

The National Telegraph received a message from Pernambuco tonight saying: "The Zeppelin will arrive at Rio de Janeiro on Sunday only. Atmospheric conditions may make it possible for the airship to land at Sao Paulo."

The offices of the Condor Syndicate, agents for the Zeppelin, were filled tonight with gifts for Dr. Eckener and his crew, ranging from a pair of patent leather shoes for the commander to terra cotta ash trays with pictures of Rio de Janeiro for the crew.

TARIFF CONFERENCE AGREES; ENDS WORK

Compromise Flexible Plan Makes Powerful Body of Commission.

DUE IN SENATE MONDAY

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Senate and House conferees yesterday concluded their work on the tariff bill, agreeing to a compromise flexible provision which was advertised as going another step in establishing a scientific tariff commission, but which can be determined only after the commission's personnel is known.

Under the terms of the pending bill the President has authority to reorganize the commission.

Under the flexible compromise plan agreed upon by the conferees the commission will make investigations upon its own initiative, at the direction of the President or of Congress, and recommend either a higher or lower rate within a 50 per cent range of the statutory rate. The President then has either 60 days to accept or reject that rate. If he does not like it he may veto it just as he may any bill coming from Congress. He can not change the rate.

The effect of the compromise is to make the Tariff Commission an all-powerful scientific body, which was advocated by the Democrats in the last presidential elections but rejected by the Republicans.

The flaw in this lies in the personnel of the commission. Former President Coolidge adopted the practice of making appointees to the commission give him their resignations to be accepted at his pleasure, or more aptly at his displeasure. The commission remains a bipartisan one of three Democrats and three Republicans.

The President lost his request that the commission be enlarged to seven members. Also the all-important provision in the original House bill providing that competitive conditions be the basis in studyng tariff changes was knocked out. The commission must continue to proceed upon the basis of differences in the costs of produc-

POLICE AUTOMOBILE KILLS SCHOOLGIRL

Kenmore Child, 8, Haunted by Death Fear Before Fatal Accident.

BODY DRAGGED 60 FEET

Eight-year-old Arline Hilda Shifflett, of Kenmore, Va., resignedly went to school yesterday morning against her will, haunted by a premonition of impending danger, and last night lay fatally crushed and mangled, victim of a Fairfax County police car, driven by Policeman Lewis L. Finks.

The accident occurred shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Kenmore, near Vienna, when the child was struck while she was running across the old Leesburg pike to Oliver's store, where her father, Charles Shifflett, is employed.

Policeman Finks, with Policeman A. W. Mills, rushed the child to Georgetown Hospital, where she died an hour and a half later without regaining consciousness. Attendants reported that she received fractures of the skull, the right leg, and the left kneecap, with abrasions over the entire body.

The girl was struck down a few minutes after the close of the day's session at the Andrew Chapel School near Kenmore, which she had attended yesterday after pleading with her mother to be allowed to stay home and after telling a neighbor that she "was afraid something would happen."

Her teacher, Mrs. Ruth V. Day, had driven her automobile to a point on the pike opposite Oliver's store with several pupils and had parked momentarily to allow Hilda, as the child is familiarly known, to examine the family mail box at the roadside. Mrs. Day declared that after viewing the highway she said it was clear and permitted the girl to run across the road to the store on her way to her home in the rear. Mrs. Day said that the police car suddenly came speeding "out of nowhere" and hit the child.

C. S. Sanders, a resident of Kenmore, reported that the police ma-

Judiciary Subcommittee Reported Favoring Capper Bills.

MITCHELL APPROVES PROJECT IN HEARING

Attorney General Cites Court Congestion as Proof of Need.

SUCCESSOR PLANNED FOR POST OF WHEAT

Action Halted Until Jurist Gains Confirmation to New Office.

The Capper bills to give Washington four more Federal justices, two for the District Supreme Court and two for the District Court of Appeals, will be favorably reported by the Senate judiciary committee on Monday, it was indicated yesterday.

Appearing before a judiciary subcommittee yesterday, Attorney General William D. Mitchell strongly urged approval of the two bills, declaring that the additional judges are essential if congestion in the courts is to be relieved.

Members of the subcommittee—Senator Frederick Steiwer (Republican), Oregon, and Senator Charles W. Waterman (Republican), Colorado—announced that they would recommend to the full committee at its meeting Monday that the bills be reported.

New Associate Justice Seen.

Incidentally, Attorney General Mitchell revealed at the hearing that a man will be nominated for Associate Justice of the local Supreme Court as soon as the Senate confirms Associate Justice Alfred A. Wheat as Chief Justice.

Until Judge Wheat is confirmed for the higher office, Attorney General Mitchell said, it is impossible to nominate anybody for the associate judgeship which he will vacate.

The Attorney General brought this out in the course of a statement in which he declared that the vacancy which has existed in the court since Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy retired in December has tended to increase congestion there.

More Judges Required.

Mr. Mitchell said that, while there is room for improvement in the business methods both of the court and the District Attorney's office, any reforms that might be made would be futile unless additional judges are provided.

The House is expected to vote for four additional judges almost any day now.

The Gibson bills, which are similar to the Capper bills, already have been favorably reported, and are expected to come up for a vote within a few days.

BRITISH LIQUOR MAGNATE HELD ON DRY CHARGE

Edward Tatham, Prominent Socially, Accused of Rumrunning Plot.

SEIZED ABOARD TRAIN EN ROUTE TO TORONTO

Planned to Import Rare Whiskies for Wealthy, Official Asserts.

FIRM ALSO INDICTED; BACKING IN U. S. SEEN

Englishman Was Visitor in Homes of New York 400; Has Oxford Diploma.

New York, May 23 (A.P.).—Edward Tatham, socially prominent and a director of the noted English distillery, Justerini and Brooks, Ltd., was arrested today on an indictment charging him and his concern with conspiracy to import liquor into the United States and to solicit orders here.

A sealed indictment was returned in the Federal Building yesterday and a bench warrant was issued by a Federal judge, who fixed bail at $20,000 in advance of arraignment.

Tatham's idea, Assistant Federal Attorney Watts said, was to import the finest European liquors and whiskies into New York, distributing them at high prices among wealthy people.

"There are indications," Watts said, "that a financially strong American syndicate was backing the scheme."

Prominently Connected in U. S.

Watts added that Tatham has the highest social connections on both sides of the Atlantic and had just concluded a stay of several days at the home of socially prominent persons, whom the assistant United States attorney declined to name.

He was arrested in the drawing room of the Toronto Limited as that train was about to pull out of the Grand Central Terminal.

"Tatham," Watts said, "is an Englishman of culture, a graduate of Oxford, in fact a man of just the type to promote the sale of high-grade products among persons able to pay and pay well." He added that he believed the Federal indictment established a precedent, being the first in which a foreign concern is charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

The true bill alleged, among other overt acts, that a circular was mailed from London soliciting an order from Samuel Thorne, of Harrison, N. Y. It was charged that Tatham, in furtherance of conspiracy, arrived here May 19 aboard a coastal liner from Miami.

Last Chance to Get Him.

Watts declared there is "at least one other Englishman in this country associated with Tatham," and the Federal authorities are seeking him.

"This was the last chance we had to get Tatham," Watts said. "Our information is that he was going to Toronto and thence to Europe." He added that Federal undercover men had been trailing the Englishman for weeks and described their work as "a unique example of preventive enforcement."

Quota for Japanese Immigration Sought

Legislator to Ask Lifting of Ban on Inhabitants of Island Empire.

Representative Albert Johnson (Republican), Washington, chairman of the House immigration committee, made the unexpected announcement late yesterday that he will move for an amendment to the 1924 immigration act which would place Japan under the quota, thereby removing the exclusion stigma which has been the cause of unending irritation between this country and the island empire for the past six years.

Mr. Johnson's announcement followed publication here of dispatches from Tokyo telling of the speech by Masanao Hanihara, who was Japan's Ambassador here when the exclusion act went through on the heels of Hanihara's unfortunate phrase declaring that exclusion would have "grave consequences."

Mr. Johnson predicted that the Senate and House both would agree to the amendment putting Japan under the quota, thus assuaging bitterly wounded Japanese pride. Immigration officials believe that the question is purely one of friendly relations, not one of number of immigrants, since it is felt fewer would actually enter the United States under the quota, which would be negligible, than now enter surreptitiously.

The late Senator Lodge seized upon the "grave consequences" phrase and fairly stampeded the Senate into the exclusion act which replaced Roosevelt's "gentleman's agreement," under which immigration was severely discouraged by the Japan government.

Japanese bitterness over the exclusion ban has smouldered ever since. Slowly opinion has taken

Call for New Term Sure if Action Is Lacking, President Warns.

FESS TRIES TO SPEED COMMITTEE HEARING

Stimson Asks Britain and Japan Exact Meaning of Article XIX.

NAVAL MEN ATTACK TREATY PROVISIONS

America Got Nothing for Concessions at London, They Declare.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover announced yesterday that if the Senate adjourns without disposing of the London naval treaty he will immediately call a special session to deal with it.

"My understanding is," said the President, who read from a prepared statement, "that advocates of the naval treaty are earnestly striving to provide action at the present session.

"If this proves impossible I propose to call a special session immediately following this session for the sole purpose of dealing with the treaty."

The White House announcement came after abortive efforts by Senator Fess, administration spokesman, to curb the hearings before the Senate foreign relations committee, where the treaty was again attacked yesterday by line officers of the Navy on the ground that it is disadvantageous to the United States and jeopardizes national security by the concessions made to Great Britain and Japan.

Article XIX Inquired About.

Coincident with the President's statement it became known that Secretary Stimson has made diplomatic inquiries of the British and Japanese governments as to the true meaning of Article XIX of the pact. Senators at the hearings have been appraised of the ambiguous language in this article which may be construed as giving Great Britain the right to replace 6-inch-gun cruisers with 8-inch-gun cruisers during the life of the treaty. Mr. Stimson has conceded the need for clarification and has asked Great Britain and Japan to exchange notes with the United States as to the meaning of Article XIX.

Senator Fess interrupted the hearings before the foreign relations committee after testimony from expert witnesses had brought to light further alleged weaknesses in the treaty. The senator from Ohio rose and demanded to know how much longer the hearings were to be continued, what the plan was.

"Whose plan? What plan are you talking about?" snapped Senator Johnson, who was questioning Admiral R. E. Coontz, retired, former chief of naval operations. Senator Fess turned appealingly to Chairman Borah and suggested an executive session. But Mr. Borah nodded to Senator Johnson to continue with the witness, and Senator Fess remained only a few moments with the committee.

Borah Sees End Next Week.

Later, Senator Borah issued the following statement:

"It would seem now we would get through with the hearings by the middle of the coming week. There is no evidence of an attempt to kill time. Senator Johnson has called a number of witnesses but he has examined them without wasting any time."

Later Senator Fess stated informally that he did not accuse Senator Johnson of attempting to waste time. The senator was willing to permit Senator Borah to continue the hearings for a few more days, it was explained. It is understood that Senator Fess is one of the treaty advo-

ACTION CAUSES SURPRISE

Dallas, Tex., May 23 (A.P.).—The Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, tonight reelected Bishop James Cannon, jr., of Washington, D. C., as chairman.

The forty-first quadrennial conference of the church recently exonerated Bishop Cannon of charges of stock market speculations, lodged against him by G. T. Fitzhugh, of Memphis, Tenn.; Josephus Daniels, of Raleigh, N. C., and 20 other churchmen. The bishop yesterday was reelected a member of the board.

The report of the committee on temperance and social service, a separate body, of which Mr. Daniels is chairman, was adopetd without opposition.

Mr. Daniels, who had threatened to oppose the report on the convention floor and offer a minority report, unless certain sections of it written by Bishop Cannon were deletted, at the last acceded to adoption of the report.

"The report as a whole so truly represents the sipirt of our church we decline to make a minority report," he explained.

Mr. Fitzhugh told the Associated Press tonight in a long distance telephone conversation from Memphis that Bishop Cannon's reelection as chairman of the board "was a terrific blow to prohibition."

Southern Methodist women desirous of having the right to preach received an expression in their favor from the general conference of their church, but they were no nearer their goal than formerly.

The conference voted, 174 to 159, to grant equal rights of clergy to wom-

DRY HEAD DEFENDS LABORS OF MELLON

Enforced Law Just as Far as His Superiors Wanted, McBride Asserts.

CARAWAY BARES LETTER

(Associated Press.)

Concluding its investigation of the Antisaloon League, the Senate lobby committee yesterday received testimony from F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the organization, that Secretary Mellon had "gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superiors wanted him to go."

The dry leader emphasized that he was referred to the Coolidge administration and added that it was "different" from the present one. He testified Thursday that the Hoover administration was "making good" on prohibition enforcement.

The testimony resulted when Chairman Caraway produced a letter written by Mr. McBride last January to J. G. Brown, of Port Huron, Mich. Mr. Brown had written that Mr. McBride was "very much mistaken regarding the sincerity of Mr. Hoover."

He added:

"If he is not a hypocrite on this question, why does he not immediately fire Mellon who, with Cal's help, has made such a farce of prohibition?"

Replying, Mr. McBride wrote:

"I am convinced you are wrong in your attitude. There was a time when I had something of the same feeling, but on thorough investigations I have reached the conclusion that Mellon has gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superiors wanted him to go and I do not believe he is now standing in the way of effective prohibition enforcement.

"That doesn't say how far he went, but so far as his superiors wanted

Business in Washington

By LLOYD B. WILSON,
President of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Companies.

The growth of the system of the four Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Companies operating in the District of Columbia and the States of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia for the first four months of this year shows a steady increase in the use of the telephone.

This is reflected in the number of telephones, originating calls and the gross telephone revenues. While this increase, in general, is below the normal rate of growth, it shows no marked depression as affecting the telephone industry in this area.

In the District of Columbia 2,859 telephones have been added to the system since January 1, making 161,772 in service April 30. Originating telephone calls in Washington increased more than 787,000 for the first four months of this year over a similar period in 1929. Gross revenues during this period increased 2.37 per cent over the first four months of last year.

The construction program for additions and replacements this year has involved expenditures of $1,406,000 as compared to $1,207,000 for the first four months of 1929.

In the area operated by the four Chesapeake & Potomac Companies the number of telephones on April 30, 1930, was 631,630, an increase of 12,920 since the first of the year. On April 30, 1929, the number of telephones was 596,409, which was an increase of 12,149 telephones for the first four months of 1929.

Originating calls increased about 7,180,000 for the first four months of 1930 as compared with the same period in 1929.

Gross revenues for the first four months of this year increased 4.6 per cent over a similar period last year.

The construction program for the first four months of 1930 involved expenditures of approximately $6,562,000 as compared with $4,021,000 for the same period in 1929. These expenditures were not entirely due to the growth, as a considerable part of them was for plant replacements. Further additions and replacements to telephone plant now contemplated will involve additional expenditures during the remainder of the year of about $11,000,000.

By continued use of well directed sales effort, we expect to realize a moderate rate of growth for the remainder of the year.

Bride Ruling Guards Envoy Immunity in Traffic Cases

Action Should Be Left to State Department, He Believes.

Legislation revoking immunity now enjoyed by members of the Diplomatic Corps who violate the District traffic laws should not be enacted, William W. Bride, corporation counsel, said in an opinion forwarded the District Commissioners yesterday.

Police records show that between January, 1917, and May, 1929, Mr. Bride said, that there had been reported less than three violations of traffic laws per year by members of the Diplomatic Corps, "which appears to us exceptional," he added, "considering the fact that there are approximately 500 persons enjoying diplomatic immunity residing in Washington and that a generous number of these undoubtedly drive cars."

"It is believed that this record is attributable in large measure to the cates referred to by the President as earnestly striving to get action. Senators Reed and Robinson, who were delegates to the London Conference, are among the others.

Senator Watson, the Republican leader, had advised against trying to dispose of the treaty with undue haste at this session. He fears that he may not be able to keep senators here during the hot summer months in view of the present political situation and the added fact that senators are worn out by the steady grind.

Keeping of Quorum in Doubt.

Irrespective of any special session there will be a considerable number of senatorial absentees and it is doubtful whether or not it will be easy to keep a quorum. But an incentive is offered to senators to curtail debate, ratify the treaty without delay and then have the summer free for their own purposes. Senator Watson has called a meeting of Senate Republicans for Monday to decide upon a course of action in view of the President's statement.

Yesterday's hearings before the foreign relations committee and the naval affairs committee developed unanimous opposition of naval authorities to the treaty. The consensus of naval opinion has established the following points:

First—The treaty gives Great Britain superiority in capital ships instead of parity.

Second—America is reduced to a position of serious inferiority in the matter of cruisers because of abandonment of her cruiser program and the concessions to Great Britain and Japan.

Ratio Surrender Claimed.

Third—The abandonment of the 5-3 ratio with Japan was made with no compensatory features for America and constitutes a surrender which jeopardizes the naval defense of the United States in the Pacific.

Commander H. C. Train, naval expert with the American delegation at London, said the cruiser ratio under the treaty was America, 5; Great Britain, 8.2 Japan, 3.8. He confirmed the fact that Great Britain could have more 10-000-ton heavy-gun cruisers during the life of the treaty than the United States, which information was disclosed by Admiral J. M. Reeves, of the Naval General Board, yesterday.

One surprise of the day was the fact that Capt. Adolphus Andrews, commanding the flagship of Admiral Pratt, disagreed fundamentally with the views of Admiral Pratt on 8-inch-gun ships. The Navy is almost unanimous in opposing the Pratt program of 6-inch-gun ships. Admiral William D. Leahy, Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, flatly opposed the Pratt theory and criticized the London naval treaty as disadvantageous to the United States.

Larger Guns Advised.

"The 8-inch gun is superior for every purpose I can think of," said Admiral Leahy, "except with the fleet, to drive off destroyers, etc." Admiral George C. Day and Admiral H. G. Hough testified before the naval affairs committee and stressed the disadvantages to the United States Navy, which they said resulted from the treaty.

So far no one of the naval officers has been able to explain to the committee what consideration, if any, the United States obtained at London for the concessions made by the American delegation to Great Britain and Japan.

But Senators Reed and Robinson, of Arkansas, contend that America is the victim of her own folly in not adequately building up her Navy and that the bargain reached was as good as could be attained. Senator Reed was not present at the hearings yesterday.

GOLDEN EAGLE WINS HORSE SHOW PRIZES

Gelding Takes Three First Places at Worthington Valley Event.

GIRL, 14, STARS AT JUMPS

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, May 23.—Van Duser Burton's Golden Eagle leaped to the forefront in the second day's exhibitions at the Worthington Valley Horse Show today by capturing three blue ribbons in the afternoon events. He took fourth place in the jumpers' sweepstakes in the morning.

The horse was ridden by Mr. Burton in the first race of the afternoon over jumps 4 feet 6 inches high. The big gelding was followed in the event by James Piper's Blue Steel, E. E. Adamson's black gelding, Tip, and Miss Ruth Cowan's Chancellor.

In the exhibition of the local hunters Golden Eagle again carried off the blue ribbon. In this event the horse was ridden by George Groom, young manager of the Burton Stables. Cappy Ricks, James Piper's gelding, was a close second, followed by C. Wilbur Miller's Kilgar and another Burton horse, Solitaire.

Again Leads Performance.

Golden Eagle again led in the performance over jumps 5 feet high. Again ridden by young Groom, the 8-year-old gelding was followed by Miss Fannie Whitefield's Hialeah, a prize winer in the first day's events: Miss Cowan's Chancellor and B. E. Murphy's Tantalizer.

While Golden Eagle carried off the honors for the day among the horses, it was left to a demure 14-year-old miss to give one of the prettiest riding exhibitions seen on the course during the two-day events. Riding in the last event in the afternoon, Miss Nancy Huidekoper, of Baltimore County, carried off the blue ribbon in th ladies' jumpers class. Astride Mosquito, a bay gelding, she led her mount over the jumps like a veteran, riding easily and gracefully.

SUSPECT IDENTIFIED AS BEING AT DANCE

Soldier Declares Brewster Went to Event Mary Baker Attended.

OFFICERS' STORY CHECKS

Attendance of Pvt. Harold L. Brewster at a dance at which Mary Baker was a guest was established yesterday by authorities, who put the murder rogation that lasted five hours.
rogation that last five hours.

It was made known yesterday that a soldier stationed at Headquarters Company, to which Brewster is attached, saw the suspect at the company dance on February 1. Brewster did not make his appearance until after midnight, according to the soldier.

Toward the end of the function the soldier saw Brewster dancing with different girls. Mary Baker was the guest of an officer at the post. Police had checked his activities until near midnight, when he returned to the garrison from an official assignment, dressed in civilian clothes, and left the building.

Officer's Story Supported.

The soldier's story coincides with that of two officers of the Headquarters Company who were less positive that they saw him there. Brewster again denied to authorities yesterday that he attended the affair.

Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, Detectives Walter Fowler and John Flaherty conducted the quiz. After the interrogation they said that Brewster is now showing signs of being on the defensive. Heretofore, they said, he had been willing to talk.

He told the detectives that he did not kill the girl, as he had confessed, but still affirms his story that on the night of the murder he had an altercation with a woman in an automobile parked near Seventeenth and B streets.

Denies He Can Drive Car.

Brewster denied that he drove away in the car. He said he did not know how to drive a car like that owned by Miss Baker. Capt. A. R. Bolling, his company commander, yesterday discovered that Brewster had once borrowed an automobile of similar make from an officer at the post.

Brewster was at one time connected with the Army Motor Transport and was familiar with all types of automobiles, according to his superiors.

Capt. Bolling also established yesterday that Brewster had been seen on three occasions apparently waiting for some one in front of the Navy Department Building. He was seen at this point, between the time of the slaying and March 30, according to Bolling.

Another Private Heard.

Pvt. Owen A. Sterner, whose quarters are near Brewster's, told Capt. Bolling that six or seven weeks ago Brewster invited him to keep a "date" with two girls who went to a church near Twenty-second and P streets northwest.

Sterner said Brewster also told him that he kept company with a girl who worked for the Government. Sterner told Capt. Bolling that the suspect showed him a string of beads which he said had been given to him by one of his woman friends.

Capt. Bolling also learned yesterday that Brewster had told another soldier that he had a girl friend who owned a car, which she permitted him to drive when they went out together.

Stabbing Is Recounted.

A few days before the suspect confessed and denied the slaying, he stabbed another soldier with a knife during a quarrel, according to authorities. Brewster had a violent temper, according to police, and had several fights with other men in the garrison within the last two months.

The suspect will be taken from the barracks to Walter Reed Hospital on Monday, according to Army officials, where he will be given a series of tests to determine his sanity.

Army officers yesterday emphatically denied reports that ex-Policeman Robert J. Allen had grilled Brewster regarding his complicity in the case. Allen has been loitering in front of the barracks for two days, according to officials. Guards have been instructed to escort the former policeman from the reservation should he again appear.

MALTESE MINISTER ESCAPES ASSASSIN

Supporter of Opposition Fires Three Shots at Lord Strickland.

POLICE FOIL ATTEMPT

Valetta, Malta, May 23 (A.P.).—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate Lord Strickland of Sizeragh, prime minister of Malta, as he was entering the court of appeals to hear a case against the Nationalist party. Three shots were fired, but all missed.

The assailant, who gave his name as Miller and his age as 38, is a supporter of the Nationalist party and is understood to be a native Englishman. He was arrested for rioting in 1919 and was accused of having torn the British flag. He has only one arm.

The prime minister was attending the court as plaintiff in a case wherein the Nationalists are attempting to invalidate all laws passed by the government.

Fired on at Close Range.

Accompanied by a police sergeant Lord Strickland entered the court. A revolver shot was fired from a range of 6 feet. Lord Strickland appeared momentarily dazed, but the police acted immediately and seized Miller, whose other two shots went into the air.

Lord Strickland quickly recovered composure and smiled as the assailant was led away. Crowds assembled and gave him an ovation.

The residents of Malta, which is an important British naval base, were greatly excited by the incident, and news of the attempted assassination brought them flocking from all parts of the island. Indignation was expressed widely, and a former Nationalist minister escaped rough treatment only by the arrival of police.

Police remained on alert duty all day, with mounted men patroling the streets, but no disorder was reported, and the city was quiet by evening.

Is British Possession.

Malta is a British island possession in the Mediterranean, and is one of the most important British naval bases. It has a governor general and a legislature which functions according to ordinary parliamentary procedure.

Recent dispatches have told of trouble between the state and Catholic Church on the island.

It was said in debate in the House of Commons in London that the Catholic Archbishop of Malta had announced that any one voting for Lord Strickland, prime minister, or any members of the Constitutional party during the forthcoming elections would be committing a mortal sin.

Figured in Controversy.

Lord Strickland, himself a Catholic, was said to have refused to allow a Franciscan priest, who was a British citizen, to be transferred against his will to Sicily on orders of the superior of the community in Malta. The government asserted that the transfer was ordered on political grounds.

At the time it was understood the Maltese archbishop made an airplane visit to Rome, presumably to confer regarding the matter.

London, May 23 (A.P.).—Lord Strickland, prime minister of Malta, against whose life an attempt was made today, has been the central figure in an eighteen-month controversy between the Maltese government and the Vatican.

The controversy recently reached an acute stage when the Roman Catholic hierarchy forbade the Maltese Catholics to vote for the government party in the forthcoming Maltese elections.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THIS business of senators going periodically before the electorate as Republicans and then knifing the party in the back—now, it is something not to be scoffed at.

Take Senator Freddy Hale, the Maine insurgent, the radical, the renegade Republican, biting the very hand that feeds him. Here he is now openly arrayed against the administration leader, Senator Borah.

He has violated the one and only Republican issue, which is "support the President."

* * * *

THERE is something more serious about Freddy's insurgency than appears on the surface. It is subversive of our institutions. It establishes a bloc system of government when this country has grown to its present estate by the time-proven two-party rule.

One has only to look to England, France and Germany to see what government by blocs will do. Not that we would change their form of government or suggest that they do so.

But without for one minute violating ordinary diplomatic usage we can observe the workings of such governments and in the end declare "Nevah, nevah," with a gusto befitting our American enthusiam.

* * * *

THE attempt to set up a Government by blocs is not new in this country. There have been efforts before.

Freddie Hale, this anti-Hooverite, tried it in Mr. Coolidge's administration. But in the end the good sense of the American people prevailed. They realized what kind of a Senate would be with the Democrats, the regular Republicans and the Hale Republicans. Such a mess as that was perceptible to everybody, of course.

No majority with a responsibility, the legislative strength lying with the Democrats, bent only in putting the President in a bad fix. All students of good government appreciated that that would not be a healthy state.

* * * *

BUT it is once an insurgent, always one, with Freddy. Insurgency just beats in the man's veins.

One stutters in wrath over his constant irregularity; it seems that there should be more descriptive terms than radical, bolshevik, renegade, but they are the only ones that come readily to mind. He must try the patience of Senator Borah, who is going along with the President, and Bill Hard must exercise considerable restraint in not blowing him up on the radio. Other insurgents have not been dealt with so patiently as Freddy.

He might well watch his step, too. This country will not countenance any blocks thwarting the will of the President. It has confidence in his good judgment. It is with him or, rather, when the choice is Freddy or the President, it must be.

TARIFF CONFEREES END WORK; COMPROMISE ON FLEXIBLE PLAN

tion of American and foreign made goods.

Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, denouncing the compromise plan as far short of what the coalition had wanted, and as delegating congressional authority to the President, recalled that Mr. Hoover in his campaign speech in Boston in 1928 had denounced the delegation of tariff-making powers as socialistic.

Senator Smoot, chairman of the Senate finance committee, plans to make the conference report to the Senate Monday with a view to calling it up Tuesday. Senator Simmons, ranking Democrat conferee, estimated the debate would require four days.

Some fun will come in the House when the conference report is presented there. Some time ago that body voted by a good majority against so little as a 75 per cent levy on lumber. But the conferees, in order to get enough votes to insure the bill's passage in the Senate, wrote in a rate of $1 per thousand board feet.

The House leaders do not plan now to let the House members say anything about the lumber rate, but intend to make them accept or reject the conference report as a whole. There is considerable resentment in the agricultural bloc about this because it makes those members look so foolish, having voted down a 75-cent rate and now accepting one of $1.

The lumber deal bids fair to take the place with the Democrats of their Grundyism issue, which is removed by the Pennsylvania senator's defeat.

There is considerable speculation at the Capitol as to whether Senator Grundy will vote for or against the bill on final passage. The word is going around in Republican quarters that he will not and one gets the impression that Republican influences are trying to persuade him not to do so.

If he should not do so it would be considered a fine stroke in this great play for impression upon the mass mind that goes on around here. Nothing would suit the Republican psychologists better than to paint such a picture as Mr Grundy, one extreme, voting against the bill because it is not enough, and the Democrats, the other extreme, howling that it is too much. The citizen might then say that the truth is in between.

It would be a hazardous undertaking because the administration has not such a clear margin for the bill, but there are one or two more Democrats Senator Watson should be able to pick up if they are needed for passage.

At any rate risks have to be taken in the play for the mob.

LA GUARDIA COMES FORWARD IN DEFENSE OF DIAL PHONES

he discovered, had some friends after all.

The first to come to its defense was Representative Fiorello H. La Guardia (Republican), New York.

"Any member of the House who hasn't enough sense to operate a dial telephone," said the fiery little New Yorker, "ought to go out and get himself another job.

No One to Blame But You.

"Why you can't stop progress. It's silly to try. So far as the dial telephone is concerned, I don't see why anybody should want to abolish them. If yo uuse them right you can't make a mistake.

"The only difference is that, with the dial, there is nobody you can 'cuss out.'"

Representative Royal C. Johnson (Republican), of South Dakota, joined with Representative LaGuardia in defending the dials.

"They are perfectly satisfactory to me," he said. "Out in my home town of Aberdeen we have had the dials for ten years, and I have never heard any complaints about them.

"In fact, we think they are an improvement on the old telephones. They save time and are easy to operate. So you can say for me that I will oppose any attempt to displace them ehre at the Capitol."

Resolution Is Doomed.

The fact is that the Abernethy resolution hasn't got a chance. In fact, it is doubtful if it ever gets out of the accounts committee.

On the other side of the Capitol, however, the dials are doomed if a resolution adopted Thursday is carried out. The resolution, introduced by Senator Carter Glass (Democrat), of Virginia, directs Sergeant at Arms David Barry to request the telephone company to remove the dials within 30 days.

However, it was pointed out yesterday by Lloyd B. Wilson, president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., that no senator or representative need use the dial unless he chooses to.

"In view of the questions which have been raised with regard to the operation of the dial telephone system in Washington," said Mr. Wilson, "it seems proper to make a brief statement to clear up any misunderstanding which may exist.

Not a New Expreiment.

"Dial service is not a new and untried experiment. It has been in operatio nin various parts of the United States for the last 25 or 30 years. It is in use in nearly all of the larger cities of the country and many smaller ones, and at the present time over 4,000,000 telephones are on a dial basis. All experience has demonstrated that dial service is a dependable, satisfactory and expeditious service, except for certain unavoidable difficulties that are sometimes encountered during a short introductory period.

"As regards the effect of dial service on the number of telephone operators employed in Washington, no operators employed on a permanent basis were released because of the installation of the dial system.

"The telephone system at the Capitol, which is operated by the Government, continues as a manually operated private branch exchange now connected with one of our dial central offices in Washington. It was not contemplated that the placing of dial telephones in the Capitol should make it necessary for any senator or representative to use the dial unless he preferred to do so. Dials were placed on the telephones so that those who prefer can make their calls by dialing.

"It is the earnest desire of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to give constantly improving telephone service acceptable to the public."

NEW INDIAN LEADER SENTENCED IN RAIDS

Mrs. Naidu Given 9 Months; Procession of 200,000 Parades Bombay.

GANDHI'S SON GETS YEAR

Bombay, May 23 (A.P.).—Today was more exciting in Bombay than any time since the opening of the civil resistance campaign, with news of the imprisonment of Mrs. Sarojini Naidu coupled with a great procession of Indians.

The procession of upward of 200,000 persons was organized by the leaders of various Indian commercial bodies and started marching from the Bullion Exchange.

The paraders went through the main portion of the Indian quarters, to Victoria Terminus, the junction point of the five principal streets in Bombay, and attempted to enter the fort area. Here they encountered a solid wall of policemen ranked four deep from curb to curb. Thereupon the demonstrators sat down, singing national songs. For nearly four hours this study in passivity continued, the Nationalists sitting calmly and the police standing stolidly.

Demonstrators Let In.

Finally the authorities announced that the demonstrators could enter the fort area provided they agreed to abstain from violence. This agreement suited the demonstrators and with a great roar and the shouting of revolutionary slogans the mob surged down Horby road, which runs through the center of the fort, filling the street from curb to curb for half a mile.

Mrs. Naidu, who was leader of the civil disobedience campaign after the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi and Abbas Tyabji, was sentenced to nine months' simple imprisonment, as a result of her activities in the recent salt raids at Dharasana.

She will be treated as a class A or favored prisoner, but Mahatma Gandhi's son Manilal and his secretary, Pyarelal, were not so fortunate, each of them being sentenced to one year of rigorous imprisonment.

Three Sons Now in Jail.

Thus the three sons of Gandhi have been imprisoned and the three outstanding leaders of the civil disobedience movement also have been placed in jail. The leadership now has fallen to V. J. Patel, former president of the legislative assembly. Another sentence today was passed on Imam Saheb, of Bhawagir, who was given six months of simple imprisonment.

An important arrest today was that of Narhari Parick, who was taken into custody at Untadi camp. He was acting as leader of those volunteers who returned to the old haunts of the Dharasana salt raiders after the police clean-up yesterday. Mrs. Gandhi has remained at the camp, meanwhile, and declared that "women will continue to fight."

The rest of the country apparently passed a quiet day, although police were on guard at Dacca following riots between Hindus and Moslems yesterday in which several on both sides were injured and shops were burned.

JAPANESE QUOTA FOR ENTRY SOUGHT

shape here that the ultimate solution would be to give Japan her quota, which would put her on the same footing with other major powers and thus satisfy her sense of pride without adding to the actual influx of Japanese.

Mr. Johnson did not say when he would move to do this. His embracing of this movement, however, is significant, since he is one of the Pacific Coast group which backed the exclusion act to end further competition between cheap Japanese labor and American labor, especially in California.

By NICHOLAS RADFORD.

Tokio, May 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Masanoa Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States in 1924, when the immigration law excluding Japanese from America was passed, whose diplomatic career ended abruptly after his reference to "the grave consequences" of that legislation, today dramatically broke the rigid silence he has maintained during six years in retirement by describing the exclusion act as "the unhappy exception" in the smooth course of American-Japanese relations.

Diplomatic circles and the public both were taken by surprise by Hanihara's revival of the slumbering controversy in a speech at a farewell banquet in honor of William R. Castle, jr., whom President Hoover appointed special Ambassador to Japan for the duration of the London naval conference. The American-Japan Society was host at the dinner, which was held at the Peers Club here.

Resentment Lingers.

Referring to his own historic letter commenting on the "grave consequences" of the exclusion act and then Secretary of State Hughes' futile effort to reassure Congress that the phrase was not intended as a veiled threat, the former Ambassador said:

"Naturally, the Japanese government and people deeply resented this, and that resentment is felt now as it was then. Nor will it ever die out so long as the wound inflicted remains unhealed. Friendship once marred in this manner can not without difficulty resume its wholesale growth unless some effective remedy is administered.

"In that incident, the Ambassador of a friendly power, whose warmth of friendship and high regard for the Government and people to whom he was accredited was everywhere widely known and accepted was gratuitously accused of using a threat against that country.

"The Secretary of State's categorical assurance to the contrary was brushed aside by that accusing party."

Castle Caught Unprepared.

Ambassador Castle is reported tonight to have been slightly nettled because he was not informed in advance that Hanihara was to speak. In his own speech, which followed that of the former Japanese Ambassador to the United States, his ownly reference to the former's words was reiteration of Hanihara's expressed confidence that "the American people in the long run will do the fair and square thing."

"We have often misinterpreted each other," the American envoy said "Japan has often believed that America was trying to cripple her influence in the far East, and America has often felt that Japan had designs in this part of the world which no Japanese ever considered. What America must learn is that just because Japan's interests here are vital, that just because Japan's trade with China is of paramount importance, Japan must and will be the guardian of peace in the Pacific.

"America must learn to appreciate just as clearly the fact that Japan, the greatest progressive and peaceful power of the Orient, will be equally faithful as the guardian of the rights and opportunities of all on this side of the world."

SCHOOL GIRL KILLED BY POLICE MACHINE

chine made skid marks for 90 feet along the road, the child being carried almost 60 feet.

A conflicting story was told by Finks, who was quoted by Seventh Precinct police as declaring that the machine he was driving struck the child while the car was in second gear, proceeding from a parked position. Hospital attendants said the girl was covered with tar. The road recently was resurfaced with this substance.

A fully tied shoe which the girl was wearing when the accident occurred was picked up a short distances from the spot where she was hit.

Fairfax County authorities last night said no report of the accident had been made. Finks is a resident of Wellington Villa in the county and yesterday had been assigned with Policeman Mills to patrol the pike at Kenmore.

Masons Aid Ceremony Of Volunteer Firemen

Winchester, Va., May 23.—Representatives of the four branches of the local volunteer fire department were present today at the laying of the corner stone of the new hall of the South End Hose Co. The ceremonies were conducted by Winchester Hiram Lodge of Masons by special Grand Lodge dispensation, Dudley Lichliter presiding as worshipful master. The Handley High School Cadet Band played. The address was by the Rev. Sewell J. Wood, of the Disciples' Church, chaplain of the firemen's organization.

HOTELS CLAIM DIALS SLOW PHONE SERVICE

opinion of the District's new "roll-your-own" telephones. Similar preference for the dial system was voiced by the majority of about 50 of the largest users of telephones in the city.

Notable exceptions to this indorsement of the dials, however, were found among the apartment houses and hotels, which stood unanimously of the opinion that the dials retard service and increase expense by necessitating employment of more "PBX" operators.

Aside from the direct phones, such as are installed in private residences, and considering only the private-branch-exchange switchboards in use in offices ad other places with numerous extensions, there are two variations of the dial system now in operation in Washington.

How They Work It.

Under one method, the person calling is plugged in by the P. B. X. operator and does his or her own dialing. Under the other variation, the caller gives the number to the private operator who then plugs in on an outside trunk line and does the dialing.

It is this latter method which is used in hotels and apartments, where it is essential to keep monitor records of all outgoing calls. Because under this method the "inside" operator can not call more than one number at a time, the hotels report that service is delayed, even though additional operators have been employed.

But in busy offices, department stores, railroad offices, public utilities, and the Governmental departments, indorsement of the dial phones was almost unanimous, and in most cases highly enthusiastic.

At the Veterans Bureau, where dials have been used for interdepartmental communications for the last 10 years, the chief clerk reported that whereas the average time for completing a call under the old manual system was about 20 seconds, use of the dials has cut the time to between 3 and 5 seconds.

Treasury Chiefs Satisfied.

Officials of the Treasury Department announced their satisfaction with the dials, and reported that their operators enjoy the new system and have no trouble with it.

Miss Anna N. Hook, chief operator at the Department of Commerce, said of the dial system: "We like it; we think it's quicker than waiting for operators."

At the Department of Agriculture, the chief clerk expressed satisfaction with the dials, and the chief operator for the War and Navy Departments' joint switchboard, probably one of the business P.B.X. boards in the District, asserted she is "perfectly satisfied" with the dials, which are giving "very good results."

"Service is 100 per cent better with the dials," she declared. "They have not slowed us up at all; we are getting numbers much more quickly than with the old manual system, and we all are very much delighted."

Critic in Labor Department.

A similar comment was that of Miss Margaret Harell, chief operator for the Interior Department, but on the other hand the chief operator for the Department of Labor declared that although dials were fine for home use, they slow up service in busy offices where the switchboard operator can dial only one call at a time.

Officials of Woodward & Lothrop described the dial system as "wonderful" and "first class," and reported that they get numbers much more quickly than under the old system. They quoted their operators as having expressed "delight" with the dials, too.

Mark Lansburgh, president of Lansburgh & Brother, likewise was unstinting in his praise of the dial system, and pointed out that in addition to speeding up connections and promoting general telephone efficiency in outside communications, the dials have the added advantage for interdepartment telephoning that they eliminate the need for keeping an operator on duty in the rush seasons when the shipping and other departments may work overtime.

Railroad Men Approve.

Railroad executives in Washington likewise approved of the dial system, not only because of increased speed but also, as one pointed out, "they eliminate wrong numbers. If you get a wrong number, it's your own fault."

Charles P. Clark, general manager of the American Automobile Association, on the other hand, was less enthusiastic. In fact, he was decidedly of the opinion that the dial system is a detriment to efficiency and a needless burden upon the financial resources of his organization, slowing up service and requiring the employment of additional operators.

Mr. Clark added, however, that he finds the standard of dial service in Washington inferior to that in other cities, and expressed the hope that perhaps when the District becomes more accustomed to the innovation the present handicaps will be overcome.

John R. Palmer, of the Palais Royal, likewise reported that a check-up showed that the dials retard efficiency and "give the girls more work."

Hotels Make Complaint.

The opinion expressed by Edward T. Stafford, assistant secretary of the Washington Gas Light Co., was that the dial system is "very satisfactory." He made that declaration after consulting the operators on the company's switchboard, and after comparing experiences with other officials of the company.

"The dials have speeded up telephoning for us, and I believe that when everyone becomes accustomed to the new system, it will give universal satisfaction," Mr. Stafford said.

Identical opinions were expressed by officials of nearly a dozen of the District's leading hotels, all of whom declared that, for hotel usage, at least, the dials retard service and necessitate employment of more operators than were required under the manual system.

Local anagers of the two telegraph companies expressed divergent opinions. At the Western Union it was declared that the dials are satisfactory except for the fact that they are "not so fast." At the Postal offices, on the other hand, the dials were described as entirely satisfactory, and every bit as fast as the manual system.

Dial 'Fan' Writes Glass.

In a letter to Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, yesterday, William R. Stone, president of Stone's Mercantile Agency, declared that his office is the largest private user of telephone calls over individual lines in the District, and he expressed entire satisfaction with the dial system and asked that it be given a fair trial. In his letter, Mr. Stone said in part:

"I hope I am not taking undue liberty by addressing you in opposition to your response to Senator Dill that you 'entertained the hope' that the telephone company would follow throughout Washington the course suggested by your resolution demanding for the Senate a replacement of the dial system by the manual telephone.

"Though I doubt not the justice of your complaint against the Capitol installation, the experience of my office shows that the average time consumed in getting a party on a manual telephone was approximately 45 seconds, whereas the dial system has reduced the time to about 30 seconds, eliminating errors and controversies, as well as useless conversation with the operators, all of which took time not figured in the 45-second average.

"Further, the claim that the dial increased unemployment should, I think, be considered only with a knowledge of employment provided elsewhere through the manufacture and installation of the dial; for a comparison of countries will show that the most prosperous are those which utilize modern machinery in conjunction with manpower and not those where manpower predominates.

"However, the dial system here has been given little more than ten days test, and this, I respectfully submit can hardly be deemed sufficient especially when one considers that the economic and engineering methods of the company responsible for the innovation have developed possibly the most highly efficient service in the United States, notwithstanding popular arguments to the contrary."

RED RIVER SPREADS IN LIOUISIANA AREA

Levee Officials Discount Damage, but Water Is Still Rising.

HOUSES ARE SUBMERGED

Shreveport, La., May 23 (A.P.).—As columns of water moved down Red River, levee officials today were inclined to discount damage predictions while the Weather Bureau stood by its original forecast that it would reach a serious stage.

While the Shreveport section still bore the brunt of flood waters mainly from Bayous and overflow, the Red spilled over today on both sides in Red River Parish and was moving into Natchitoches Parish with telling effect. The overflow in Red River Parish was estimated by B. W. Marston, plantation owner, as being ten miles long and 15 miles wide affecting property of some 50 families.

To the northwest of Shreveport, Cross Bayou spread its overflow farther out over the countryside. On the Red south of Shreveport at Shreve Island the main levee was holding late today with levee officials predicting it would stand the pressure. Workmen labored on in the construction of a protection levee around the spot in the bend of the river that has been crumbling for two days. More than a third of the levee was reported caved in.

A newspaper survey of the backwater around Shreveport revealed thousands of acres of inundated land, but few persons or live stock were reported in danger.

Many houses had water to their roofs in this area and thousands of acres of planted crops were reported covered.

Reports of a heavy rain early today at Texarkana caused some apprehension in the Red River Valley. Barring heavy rains, the Weather Bureau predicted that the rise of the Red River would not exceed the crest of 1927. A height of 39 feet was predicted for the Alexandria section by June 1, against a flood stage of 36 feet.

The gauges at Alexandria today tsood at 34.8 feet and at Shreveport, 34.4. Levee officials at Alexandria expressed confidence that the levees would hold the water within bounds with the exception of low unprotected areas.

BRIDE SAFEGUARDS ENVOYS' IMMUNITY IN TRAFFIC COURT

fine example set by heads of foreign missions accredited to this country, whose aim is to maintain and strengthen cordial relations between their respective governments and the United States rather than to give offense through refusal to recognize and abide by the laws of this country.

"In our opinion, passage of this bill is inadvisable and unnecessary for the reasons following: Under its terms a foreign diplomat would enjoy unconditional immunity everywhere in the United States save in its Capital; it is legislation aimed at a class now more scrupulously observing the traffic laws than our own citizens, as statistics will demonstrate; that a persistent and flagrant violator of the traffic code, if such a one should be discovered, may be effectively dealt with through the head of his mission or the Department of State, that if this bill were to become a part of the statute laws of the United States it would not only make Washington conspicuous among capitals of the world, in none of which, so far as we can learn, does a similar law exist, but it would also lay it open to the charge of displaying bad manners toward guests of this country, selected by their sovereigns or governments for their ability and character and comprising a class not surpassed in possession of these attributes by any other group of public servants."

Protests against various things done by members of the Diplomatic Corps are by no means new, it was disclosed by Mr. Bride's opinion, which cited an instance quoted by Moore in his Digest of International Law. A Washington resident complained to the State Department in 1888 that "there was a flock of barnyard fowls on the premises of the British Minister, which gave much annoyance to persons living in the neighborhood," but the State Department told the protestant that he should take the matter up with the District Commissioners in whom had been reposed the task of regulating the keeping of fowls.

AGENTS CAUTIONED ABOUT MALT RAIDS

Intent to Violate Dry Law Must Be Shown Court, Doran Says.

MANY DRIVES UNDER WAY

(Associated Press.)

With drives against malt and hop stores in progress in several sections of the country, Prohibition Commissioner Doran cautioned administrators and agents yesterday that the recent Supreme Court decision under which such action was being taken did not permit seizure merely because the various articles were offered for sale.

In seizing kegs, bottles, labels and other paraphernalia, the commissioner warned, the Government must be able to prove that they are intended for use in violating the prohibition law.

G. A. Youngquist, Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition prosecutions, who will have executive direction of the Prohibition Bureau when it is transferred to the Department of Justice, concurred in Doran's instructions.

"Mere presence of bottles, corks, crocks, caps and capping machines," Doran said, "does not, in our opinion, prove a design to use them for the manufacture of liquor intended for use in violating the prohibition act. Sometimes association with other articles will prove this design."

Since the decision in the Danovitz case, prohibition officials in various cities, including New York and Chicago, have started drives against stores handling malt, hops, kegs, bottles and other such paraphernalia.

Doran said that the court in that case concluded that bottling, labeling, &c., were part of the process of manufacture and that as a consequence the property involved might be usable in the manufacture of liquor.

"Secondly," he said, "the court held that property usable in the manufacture of liquor when designed or intended by the possessor for such illegal use is forfeitable, even though it be intended that the actual use be by other parties."

The commissioner told the agents that all paraphernalia used in manufacture of liquor could be seized wherever found with unlawful liquor.

with papers to take Miley back to Virginia, and was amazed when told that he had been released. Sheriff Lukes and Detectives Wolff and Davis, of the local headquarters, were assigned to rearrest Miley last night, but up to a late hour were unable to locate him.

According to Sheriff Lukes, Miley disappeared after an automobile accident in Luray. The automobile which figured in the wreck, the sheriff said, had been stolen from Pittsburgh.

Local police had not received a look-out from Luray police, the authorities merely instructing a bus driver to notify police that Miley was wanted.

Cure for Ginger Paralysis; Lays Trouble to Arsenic

New York Toxicologist and New Haven Hospital Use Sodium Thiosulphate to Bring Relief to Drinkers Stricken Imbibing Extract.

New Haven, Conn., May 23 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The cause of "jakey paralysis," the hitherto mysterious and almost incurable affliction which has struck hundreds of drinkers of Jamaica ginger in all parts of the United States within the past seven months, has been traced, it was learned here today, and a cure—a slow and not yet wholly tested cure, but at any rate the first method which has given any relief—has been worked out.

It is arsenic, one of the deadliest of the elemental poisonings, which causes drinkers of "ginger jake" to become paralyzed, lose their eyesight or their power of speech, or to be afflicted in other lesser ways.

And the treatment which has been developed by Dr. C. N. Meyers, toxicologist of the Vanderbilt clinic and of the Skin and Cancer Hospital of New York City, working with the neurological staff of St. Francis' Hospital here, is a series of graded injections of sodium thiosulphate.

The research experts have, at this time, no explanations of how or why arsenic should have been introduced into the adulterated Jamaica ginger which thousands of American drinkers have found to be a cheap and readily procurable substitute for bootleg liquors.

One chemist expresses the belief that possibly the United States Government (which is now using nearly 100 different formulae for denaturing alcohol to prevent its beverage consumption) may have put arsenic in alcohol which was afterward used, with rematuring or "cooking," to manufacture or "cut" the Jamaica ginger.

The work of tracking down the cause of "jakey paralysis" was undertaken, without publicity, by the St. Francis Hospital neurologists several months ago. Dr. Meyers, well-known for his work in developing the so-called "gold cure" for lupus erythematosis, a skin disease peculiar to middle-aged women, volunteered his services. It was not until Wednesday, however, when a clinical session of the Connecticut Medical Society was in progress at the hospital, that the findings of Dr. Meyers and his as yet unidentified colleagues was revealed.

him to go," Senator Caraway commented. "That is the President?"

"That referred particularly to the previous administration," Mr. McBride replied.

"Was the previous administration different from the present?"

"I think so," Mr. McBride said.

"In other words," asked Senator Caraway, "it got wetter or drier? Which has it?"

"I have had a feeling, after looking into Mellon's work," Mr. McBride replied, "that he just went as far as those who were associated with him ——"

"You said his superiors," Senator Carraway interrupted. "That is the President?"

"Yes," the witness said. "I would think so. That is what I had in mind."

Responding to another question by Senator Caraway, the witness said:

"There was a time when a good many people thought that Secretary Mellon was in cooperation with the wet interests of the country and that he was not going as far as he should have gone in prohibition enforcement."

"There was a time when you had that feeling?" Senator Caraway inquired.

"Yes."

Mr. McBride was followed by Edward B. Dunford, attorney of the league, who testified that the organization had complied with the law in reporting political expenditures to Congress.

The committee adjourned until Tuesday, when Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, is expected to appear.

Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, may appear Wednesday. Senator Caraway yesterday wired him to ascertain if he could testify at that time.

Senator Caraway also wrote Bishop Francis McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches, to ascertain if he wished to appear next week to reply to testimony by Representative Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, that the organization had violated the principle of separation of church and state by engaging in political activities.

A list of contributors to the Federal Council of Churches, made public today by the lobby committee, showed that John D. Rockefeller, jr., had given a total of $138,117 for 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Other contributors for this period included: Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, jr., $500; Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, $1,500; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, $6,000; Arthur Curtiss James, $15,000; Jesse H. Jones, $11,250; Dr. Sherwood Eddy, $4,000; Julius Rosenwald, $3,000; Felix Warburg, $3,000; Mortimer L. Schiff, $2,000; Paul M. Warburg, $2,125; John Golden, $1,250; Alanson B. Houghton, $500; Otto Kahn, $1,750; Mrs. Thomas W. Lamont, $2,000; Prof. and Mrs. Irving Fisher, $500 and Winthrop Ames, $500.

CANNON AGAIN HEADS METHODIST BOARD

en. However, the bishops held that the proposal was a suggested change in the constitution and that, as such, it would require a two-thirds vote in the general conference and a three-fourth vote of the local conference for adoption.

The result of the vote apparently came as a surprise to those who opposed the movement, and they did not make the contention that the change was constitutional instead of legislative until after the balloting.

Women who had drafted the equal rights memorial at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Council at Amarillo, Tex., this spring, planned to carry on the fight. They hoped to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary to submit the proposed amendment at the next quadrennial convention.

This was the first time the matter had ever been submitted to the general conference. Mrs. Nat G. Rollins, of Abilene, Tex., one of the leaders in the movement, was enthusiastic over the outcome, recalling that it had taken twelve years for women to gain the privilege of being conference delegates.

M. M. Rowe, of Madison, Ala., whose step was uncertain and whose voice was feeble, took up the women's cause. Mr. Rowe said he had lived to see the women "help take care of the men."

"If they don't preach a better and safer gospel than some of our men, God help our church," Mr. Rowe said.

Opponents of the proposal contended that women ministers had no place in Christ's plan.

"Supreme Court" Amendment.

By a vote of 293 to 10, the conference voted to submit a proposed constitutional amendment to establish a judicial council, a supreme court for Southern Methodism. Proponents of the court plan said it was unwise for any one body to have both the supreme executive and judicial authority, as the college of bishops has. The council would consist of five clerical and four lay members.

The conference voted to end its sessions tomorrow.

The assignment of bishops and conference meeting included:

Bishop Edwin Mouzon, western North Carolina, Greensboro, November 5; North Carolina, Henderson, November 19; Cuba, Santa Clara, February 18; Latin work in Florida.

Bishop H. M. Dubose, Holston, Bristol, Va., September 24; Tennessee, Gallatin, October 15; Memphis, November 12.

Bishop James Cannon, jr., Brazil, south Brazil, central Brazil, Africa, Sunday, February 25.

Bishop W. P. Beauchamp, Baltimore, place to be selected, September 24; Virginia, place unselected, October 15.

COMMITTEE DRAWS HOWELL BILL TEETH

Senate Group Inserts Four Words Regarded as Buyer Safeguard.

LEGAL PROBLEM LOOMS

The Howell bill to give Washington a prohibition enforcement act "with teeth in it," to quote the author, underwent a dental operation at a meeting of the Senate District committee yesterday.

The legislative molar on which the committee worked was the much-condemned "home-raid" provision. Under this, a policeman, seeing a bootlegger enter or leave a private dwelling, might obtain a warrant to raid that dwelling.

Attorney General Mitchell favors extracting this from the bill altogether, but all the committee did yesterday was to file it down and make it less sharp.

At least that is what the committee sought to do; whether it did or not is a question for lawyers to decide.

In its original form the Howell bill said that a warrant could be obtained to raid a dwelling when "intoxicating liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto or removed therefrom."

As amended yesterday, the bill says that the dwelling may be raided when "intoxicating liquor is unlawfully delivered thereto for purposes of sale or unlawfully removed therefrom."

Senator Robert B. Howell said that, by inserting the words "for purposes of sale," the committee had fashioned a provision that was aimed solely at the bootlegger, and not at a citizen who might take a pint of liquor into his home.

"We are trying to destroy the bootlegger's technique," the Nebraskan said. "We are trying to get to the places where these fellows cache their liquor."

There were some who felt, however, that the provision was still a "home-raid" provision, and that a man's dwelling still might be raided if he bought a pint of liquor from a visiting bootlegger.

At any rate, Senator Howell will have a lot of explaining to do on the floor of the Senate if the bill gets that far.

Chairman Capper, of the Senate District committee, said yesterday that he would call the committee together Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and would call for a vote on the bill.

OWNING RUM HELD NO MORAL TRESPASS

Attack on Grand Jury Based on Dry Law Conviction of Member Fails.

PLEA IN DAYTON CASE

Justice Peyton Gordon, in District of Columbia Supreme Court, ruled yesterday that conviction of possession of liquor does not involve moral turpitude and may not disqualify a person from serving on a grand jury and does not invalidate an indictment returned by a grand jury of which the person in question was a member. The ruling was made in connection with the overruling of a challenge to the array of the grand jury made by Attorneys Daniel S. Ring and Harvey Cobb on behalf of Dexter Churchill Dayton, who is charged in an indictment with first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Marjorie O'Donnell, who was strangled to death last October at the Hotel Roosevelt.

The justice's decision, it is believed, will settle the same question raised in a number of pleas in abatement involving officials of the F. H. Smith Co., who recently were indicted on embezzlement charges.

The question of possession of liquor was distinguished by Justice Gordon from the District of Columbia Court of Appeals decision in the Rock case. It was pointed out that in the Rock case conviction had been obtained on a transportation charge and it had been brought out that Rock, a member of the Washington Police Department, had sworn to uphold the Constitution, which includes the eighteenth amendment.

It was pointed out by Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw, for the Government, that the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals had disregarded the majority opinion of the District appellate court in the Rock case and had approved the minority opinion written by Justice Charles Robb. Mr. Burkinshaw also pointed out that as late as last July the Second Circuit Court of Appeals had held that moral turpitude was not involved in a liquor law violation.

FALL APPEALS TAX LEVY TO U.S. BOARD

Internal Revenue Bureau's Assessment Held to Be Unwarranted.

DOHENY GIFT INVOLVED

The Government's effort to collect income tax on money Albert B. Fall and his Tres Ritos Cattle & Land Co., of Three Rivers, N. Mex., received from E. L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair, whose companies were awarded leases of naval oil reserves, has been appealed to the United States Board of Tax Appeals by the former Secretary of the Interior.

The Internal Revenue Bureau assessed Fall and his wife a total of $158,127 in deficiency taxes and $77,-198 in penalties for failing to report a total of $403,000 as income. The bureau assessed the deficiency and penalties on $100,000 Fall received from Doheny in 1921 and a total of $303,000 paid by Sinclair to Fall and M. T. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law.

The bureau held that $100,000 that Fall received from Doheny in 1921, which he said was a loan was income. Fall was convicted of accepting this amount as a bribe to influence the award of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve to Doheny's Pan-American Co., but Doheny later was acquitted of giving Fall the money as a bribe.

During the trial of Sinclair on charges of conspiring with Fall to defraud the Government out of the Teapot Dome Naval Oil Reserve which resulted in his acquittal, it was brought out that Sinclair had paid Everhart $233,000 in Liberty Bonds for one-third interest in the Mexico ranch owned by Fall and Everhart.

It also developed that Sinclair had advanced the company $35,000 additional in two payments of $10,000 and $25,800. During the oil trials it also was brought out that Fall had received $25,000 in bonds from Sinclair which he maintained was a loan and $10,000 in cash which he said was expense advanced to finance a trip to Russia as counsel for the Sinclair Exploration Co.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, however, held that all of the sums were personal income of Fall on which he had failed to pay tax.

Fall in his appeal contended that the money received from Doheny and Sinclair was not personal income and argued that no fraud had been committed in failure to report it.

WASHINGTON FETE EXECUTIVE CHOSEN

Frederick V. Fisher to Open Headquarters Here for Bicentennial.

RAN SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

District of Columbia headquarters for the George Washington bicentennial celebration in 1932 will be opened June 1 under the direction of Frederick V. Fisher, former executive officer of the San Francisco Exposition. In announcing Mr. Fisher's selection yesterday, Cuno H. Rudolph, chairman of the District Bicentennial Commission, said that the organization was convinced of his ability, experience and vision.

Mr. Fisher is at present connected with the Oklahoma Stadium Corporation. He is a graduate of Yale University, and has had wide experience in promoting fairs and celebrations.

After conferring with members of the local commission this week, Mr. Fisher agreed to spend at least four months in planning the District's participation in the bicentennial. Members of the commission expressed the hope that he would serve as executive secretary of the local group for the next two years, or until the 1932 series of celebrations are completed.

The commission expects to open its headquarters in one of the George Washington University buildings, but no definite decision has been reached.

"We were most fortunate in inducing Mr. Fisher to come with us for the next four months," Mr. Rudolph said. "He is enthusiastic about the celebration, and will serve mainly from patriotic motives."

A campaign to raise funds necessary for the District's part in the celebration will be inaugurated as soon as a budget is definitely fixed, Mr. Rudolph said.

Keeping Posted

On the Rules of Traffic
By WILLIAM ULLMAN

There is no assurance that a driver may keep his permit unless he observes the traffic laws in the National Capital. He may be deprived of it for various reasons which the director of traffic deems sufficient, and in a few instances the law makes revocation of a permit mandatory.

The four violations for which revocation is a fixed penalty are: First offense of driving while drunk and leaving the scene of an accident without making one's identity known; second offense of reckless driving; and third offense speeding.

Example: A driver collides with another car and badly damages one side of it. Having visions of a large repair bill to pay, he drives on at once. In case some one gets his tag number and he is arrested, that driver will lose his permit besides facing a fine and imprisonment.

THE FLEXIBLE PROVISION.

Rumors that the tariff conference committee would emasculate the flexible provision proved unfounded. The committee has decided to leave the authority of the President to adjust duties in emergency cases much the same as it is now. Some groups that realize the Senate amendment was indefensible have been working for an arrangement under which authority to operate the flexible provision would be divided between Congress and the President. But the committee had the good sense to discard all such impracticable schemes.

The committee agreed, however, that in the investigations of the Tariff Commission the cost of production shall be the basis of comparison, rather than the difference in competitive conditions, as provided in the House bill. The commission may investigate undue competition with any American product protected by the tariff on request of the President, Congress, the interested parties or upon its own initiative. When its recommendations are made the President will have 60 days to approve or disapprove. Thus, he alone can be held responsible for changing duties by proclamation.

This system has worked well in the past, and it may be expected to provide a safeguard against ruinous competition in the future. No other arrangement has been devised whereby extraordinary needs for protection of American labor, agriculture and industry can be assured. Since the President acts only on accurate information made available by the Tariff Commission, and is held accountable to public opinion for all changes he makes, it is absurd to suppose that the power will be abused.

The same group that is fighting the flexible provision is calling upon President Hoover to veto the bill. They say that the tariff, now in its final stages of enactment, does not represent the views of the President; yet they would take away his power to alter it in any way. Mr. Hoover must sanction the entire bill or veto it. The Constitution does not allow him to pick out and reject objectional items. But if it is found that Congress has made unwarranted revisions of some items, and that the best interests of the country demand a change, the flexible provision will allow the President to adjust such rates.

It is not to be supposed that the President would use this authority to defeat the will of Congress. But conditions are changing rapidly and the tariff needs on some commodities may be quite different within a few months. The flexible provision is a safeguard against continuation of duties that are too high as well as duties that are too low. Those who fear that disaster is close on the heels of the present tariff bill should be the last to oppose the flexible clause.

That the export debenture clause would be discarded was a certainty from the beginning of the tariff controversy. The bill still contains items that should have been eliminated. But it is as good a bill as Congress can hope to enact. Adequate protection has been given agriculture and a larger share of the domestic market has been reserved for American industry. It remains only for the House to ratify the minor amendments of the conference committee, and for the Republican members of the Senate to shake off the final attack that will be made by the coalition. Friends of the tariff bill are not worrying about its reception at the White House when once the work of the conference has been approved in Congress.

AMERICA'S MERCHANT FLEET.

The character of American foreign trade, said H. G. Smith, president of the National Council of American Shipbuilders, in an address delivered before the National Foreign Trade Convention in Los Angeles this week, makes it essential that American exports be carried to world markets in American bottoms. From 1910 to 1914 raw materials and foodstuffs constituted more than half the value of American exports. Today manufactured and semimanufactured materials compose the bulk of the trade. Raw materials and foodstuffs are basic and staple products in universal demand and their export is controlled largely by the rate of foreign production. Manufactured and semimanufactured materials, however, require intensive selling agencies and vessels sailing regularly in established trade routes. America, said Mr. Smith, should carry in her own vessels at least 50 per cent of her export trade so that she can protect it against unfair freight rates, discriminations and monopolies, and relieve it of dependence on foreign-owned and operated vessels at all times, and particularly during any interruption on the normal shipping facilities of the world.

The impetus given shipbuilding by the war and by the enactment of liberal shipping legislation since the war is reflected in the growing American merchant marine. Last Wednesday the Shipping Board authorized construction loans under the terms of the merchant marine act of 1928 to aid in building the two largest merchant ships yet contracted for in an American shipyard. The loans will aggregate $15,750,000, and will make possible the construction of two 705-foot, 30,000-ton, 20-knot twin screw ships which will be able to compete on an even footing with other vessels engaged in the trade for which they are designed. These vessels could not have been contracted for if Congress had not wisely provided a Government loan fund to assist shipowners. In his address Mr. Smith explained why ship operators require Government aid.

It costs, he said, from 50 to 60 per cent more to construct a vessel in a domestic yard than in a British yard, and the differential is greater in comparison with shipyards of other countries. This greater cost of ship construction in the United States is due chiefly to the fact that wages paid workmen in American shipyards and plants manufacturing material and equipment for vessels are more than double those paid to workmen similarly employed in foreign countries. When an owner purchases in the United States a merchant vessel for operation in a foreign trade route, say, for $2,100,000, he sets upon his books a capital investment of that amount, which carries an interest charge, premiums for insurance and charges for depreciation. These charges will approximate 15 per cent of the capital cost of the vessel, or $315,000. The same vessel purchased from a British shipyard will cost not more than $1,400,000. If the same percentages are applied to this capital investment the result will be an annual carrying expense of $210,000, or a handicap of $105,000 in annual operating expense against the domestic built vessel.

To counterbalance disadvantages of this nature the Government can not do too much to stimulate the development of an American merchant marine. The construction loan fund and the mail subventions account for 2 new vessels now in service, 10 or more now under construction, 34 or more to be built under mail contracts awarded or under consideration, and at least 27 to be extensively improved. These vessels are the beginning of the new American merchant fleet.

COLLEGE STUFF.

The annual distribution of honors among members of the senior class of Princeton University, which has just been completed, illustrates to what extremes modern colleges go to put a sugar coating on the exit from university life.

One young man is going out to face the world with the reputation of being the "most brilliant" of his class. Another has been dubbed the "most handsome," a third the "most popular," and a fourth the "best dressed" man of his class. One unfortunate fellow has been stigmatized the "most likely bachelor." Another acquired the reputation of "having the biggest drag with the faculty," and due credit was given different individuals for political acumen, wit, piety, good nature, &c. One was fortunate, or unfortunate, enough to be singled out as the most likely to succeed; another as the most thorough gentleman; another as the "most entertaining" man, and still another as the most original.

One wonders what will happen to the "most handsome," the "most popular" and the "best dressed" men of Princeton when they try their luck at the practical business of making a living. Where will the young man with the "biggest drag with the faculty" be led by his college experience? It would be interesting to know, also, how long it takes the average Princeton man to live down the distorted notion of values and overcome the psychological handicap that is fastened upon him during his graduating days.

CHEAPER BOOKS.

The drastic reduction in book prices announced by four publishing firms in New York is an effort to apply modern business methods to publishing. The industry has resisted this logical move as long as it possibly can. A considerable portion of the book-loving public has taken advantage of the cheaper prices offered by the book clubs, and by the reprint of popular volumes. Competition from these sources has no doubt been a deciding factor in bringing about the new prices.

Publishing firms which have decided upon this new policy insist that it is a sound, economic move. They plan to sell several times as many copies of each book at $1 as they now sell at $2.50. There is nothing new in this business theory. Other industries have found that they can increase their profits by cutting prices so that the public will demand more of their goods. There is no conceivable reason why this principle should not apply to the publishing business.

With books selling at $1 each the public will increase its purchases. Books at that price can be bought and thrown away if they are not considered worth keeping after one reading. Sales will no doubt be stimulated sufficient to increase the royalties to authors as well as profits to publishers. Authors will welcome the opportunity to reach a larger audience, even though their profits should not be increased.

One phase of the situation thus presented invites attention, however. What effect will the publication of books at the cheaper price have upon the novelist, the historian and the biographer? The public is assured that the quality of paper and binding of the $1 books will remain the same as in the more expensive volumes. But what about the literary value? Will the better class of book, which appeals to only a small audience, be discriminated against? Will not novelists be encouraged to write trash that is given but a glance and then thrown away? Will the literary artist who takes years to produce a manuscript find there is no market for his work because books must be turned out under the "quantity production" rule?

While there are great possibilities in cheaper book prices, publishers ought to proceed cautiously in order not to close the field for work of true literary merit. It would be unfortunate indeed if mass production of books should degrade quality. The quality of current American literature is bad enough as it is.

DAVIS, OF PITTSBURGH.

The Secretary of Labor, James J. Davis, has promptly denied the report that he would change his residence from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia in consequence of his nomination for the senatorship. "I was raised in the hills of western Pennsylvania" he says, "and there I shall remain to the end."

In view of the fact that Mr. Davis received nearly 100,000 votes over Senator Grundy in the Pittsburgh district, it is evident that he labors under no disadvantage by reason of his place of residence.

PACIFISTS PROVOKE WAR

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The agitation of the internationalists for "peace" has become a mania. The more peaceful the world seems to be the louder is the turmoil created by the pacifists. Like the man at the Kilkenny fair, they are willing to "fight like hell for peace." The result of their constant agitation is to keep the thought and the fear of war constantly before the world. The newspapers want news and they naturally seize upon these purely unnecessary and artificial controversies. If it had not been for the pacifists and internationalists there would be very little thought of war today.

The world was exhausted and sick of war, and more than all else people wanted to be left alone in quiet to pursue their peaceful occupations. But they are constantly being aroused by the cry to guard against the next war which nobody would otherwise have thought of and which, so long as nobody thought of it, would not occur.

The recent naval conference in London is a fair example. All the countries represented in it were on friendly terms. There was no agitation or thought of war between them. As a result of the conference there has not been much thought of anything else. Possible war between some of these countries has monopolized the foreign news and even entered into domestic politics.

The treaty, which was almost begged for and obtained at great sacrifice as an alleged means of preserving peace, is being assailed in England, Japan and the United States. The relations of Great Britain, France and Italy have been embittered.

The ability of each country to make war on the other has been discussed, measured, ships and torpedoes have been matched; and the result of this typical pacifist movement is general ill-feeling all around.

The severest test which can be put upon the good will of the world is the constant agitation for peace.

Typical of the agitation which brought about the recent naval conference was the statement of the editor of a magazine some time ago that "any plan proposed by the pacifists for the settlement of international disputes is better than the statesmen's plan of settling them by war." The fallacy contained in this statement is the basis of most of the pacifist agitation.

It is not true that the statesmen of the world favor war as a means of settlement of international disputes. There is probably not a responsible public man in the civilized world who does not look on war as a recourse only to be resorted to after every other means has been exhausted.

This sort of false reasoning and false statement is responsible for the pressure to sacrifice our Navy in order to get a "treaty" of some kind. As every one knows, bloody wars were fought when there were no armaments, and if all navies and all armaments of all countries were abolished at once, the same conflict of international interests would remain.

The peaceful order in which commerce is being carried on would be impossible if the great law-abiding nations of the world were disarmed. The pacifists' program would lead to wars in all parts of the world.

CUMBERLAND FALLS PARK.

After a long and bitter political struggle, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the Kentucky Legislature has made certain, by passing two bills over Gov. Sampson's veto, that Cumberland Falls, one of the South's leading scenic attractions, will be preserved at a State park. One bill provides for acceptance of $230,000 offered by former Senator T. Coleman du Pont, of Delaware, a native Kentuckian, to buy the falls and adjacent grounds for a park. The other bill gives the State park commission power of eminent domain for the purpose of condemning the property, which is owned by the Insull power interests.

The opposition of Gov. Sampson and others to the acquisition of a State park without cost to the taxpayers, in contrast to his approval of appropriations for developing game refuges and completing the purchase of Mammoth Cave for a national park, is a curious and yet familiar story. The Insull interests planned to dam the Cumberland River above the falls and to build a power plant below them, both structures to be out of sight of the falls and connected by a tunnel. Those who expected to benefit from the power project opposed the park plans. Conservationists fought the power project on the ground that little would be left of the falls after the diversion of water for the hydroelectric plant. The fight was waged before the Federal Power Commission in Washington, as well as in the Kentucky capitol at Frankfort.

The rest of the country has little interest in Kentucky's internal political quarrels over this question. But conservationists everywhere will welcome the assurance that Cumberland Falls, the largest east of the Rockies with the exception of Niagara and a spot of rustic beauty, are to be preserved as a public park.

THOUGHTS WHILE WAITING FOR THE DENTIST

Three years ago it left the press,
A ten-cent magazine,
Still radiant is its outer dress,
Its pages still are clear.

Of course the jests are out of date,
The pictures out of style,
But, purchased at so low a rate,
They've lasted quite a while!

I'm sure for this old magazine
My dentist's love is strong,
Or otherwise 'twould not have been
Securely kept so long.

In those three years four teeth I've lost
And suffered cruel pains,
While here, though but a dime it cost,
This magazine remains.

That bridge he made three years ago
When first this book was born,
Though fitted where it doesn't show
No longer can be worn.

All things have changed since first I sat
And conned these pages o'er,
Except this magazine, and that Looks good for ten years more!

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

A famous French woman visited America a short time ago and went home greatly disappointed.

Our remarkable sanitation, physical culture and wealth impressed her very little, for these things seemed to take the place of any moral sense.

She thought we had made a religion of being clean, healthy and prosperous.

Over in Russia the authorities are doing their best to rid the land of all religion and are teaching children there is no God.

The result isn't pleasant—bands of young thieves prowling at night; divorces obtained in ten minutes—thousands of young people "marrying" three and four times before they are 20 years old; murder and theft by the powerful; complete disregard of civilization's standard of sex morality.

In this country the number of people who ignore religion or actively oppose it increases year by year, and there is corresponding increase in the number of divorces, the number of indecent books, the number of criminals.

You do enough newspaper reading to know that is true.

Doesn't it make the case clear?

If the people here in town should quit using water from the municipal system and begin to drink from Durbin Creek, and the change should be followed by an epidemic of typhoid fever, wouldn't you advise them to use town water again?

When people desert religion and the land is filled with all manner of evil, isn't it reasonable to blame their desertion for the epidemic of rottenness that follows?

If that isn't convincing, I want you to study the faces of the women you know.

You will find pretty girls and beautiful ladies, perhaps, who scorn religion—possibly you will find some who scorn all standards of virtue; but their beauty will be a matter of physical perfection and make-up.

When you find a woman, young or old, whose beauty is something more than cold perfection of feature—whose smile is radiant like the sunlight—whose eyes have a look of kindness that is like a benediction—whose whole countenance is eloquent of unselfish goodness, sweetness and unblemished character you will find in every instance that she communes with God.

There won't be any exception, dear.

The qualities that make a woman truly beautiful are the fabric of her character; and when you see one whose sweetness and poise you envy, you may know the Kingdom of Heaven is within her.

Many times you will be tempted to join the "smart" crowd that calls religion "an old-fashioned superstition."

When you are thus tempted, note the hardness of their eyes and the cold, dissatisfied, resentful expression of their mouths.

You can't create the beauty of goodness with a lipstick.

Love,
DAD.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Dingy Alley in National Capital Named "Washington Street"—Sixteenth Street Should Be Named for Washington.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When I came to Washington 30 years ago, I thought that the Memorial City of our world-famed chieftain, for whom the city was called, would have one of the beautiful avenues named for him. Well, one day I was passing a dingy thoroughfare, half lane, half alley, paved only in some places and sidewalk in one square. I was told that that was Washington street.

Can you conceive of any one so naming this rough looking place? Whoever it was must have been "lost for something to do" and had not the slightest sense of proportion. I went to the Municipal Building and registered my disgust. Time went on and no change was made. Again, some time later, I made another futile attempt. The other day I saw Commissioner Reichelderfer, and after a talk with his attentive personality I left, feeling that something, at last, would be done. I also asked him to use his influence not only to change the name of Washington street—alley it should be called—but change the name of Sixteenth street, calling it avenue. We have wide, handsome streets here or avenues, named after States—all right and appropriate, but surely, in view of the great memorial days we will have in two years, we could not do better than rename the dingy thoroughfare, and rename famous Sixteenth street, growing ever more beautiful, with the impressive churches and other buildings. Beginning at the White House, the name of Washington avenue, not street, would be a leading feature in the city's ways.

In Paris and other cities, fine avenues bear the names of famous men, and surely it would be fitting to name this impressive street after our first President, our first citizen, and of one from whom we have failed to find aught of imperfection or tarnish by time.

"Alamo" Thinks Texas Might Be Divided to Advantage After All.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the editorial "Garner's Iridescent Dream," you say that "when the scheme is narrowed down to its practical aspects, about the only merit it has is that it would break the monotony of travelers who weary of taking all day to ride across Texas."

Although the proposal to carve Texas into five States is in its partisan aspect plainly iridescent, I think that academic consideration of Representative Garner's contention is worth while in relation to the basic American principle of local self-government in its application to all of the large States.

The growth and spread of population has created new and "sectional problems which can best be solved by those most vitally affected," he asserts, speaking of Texas. "It has been said with some degree of accuracy that the smaller States of the Union are the best governed. We know it is an admitted truism that the closer the people are to their seat of government and their public servants the more responsive is that government to public interest and, therefore, the better and more efficient the government service."

Our national Government is well fitted to take care of the larger affairs of the people. Is there not food for thought in this plea for civic independence in regard to the special activities of well-defined localities?

While I like to think of Texas as some day becoming the grandest State in the Union, on the other hand, I must admit that perhaps in the long run it might be better for the people and better for the whole United States if Representative Garner's idea were carried into effect.

Senate Too Smart to Be Fooled by Engineers Who Try to Put in Dial Phones.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I hope you will give me space to say how all-fired glad it made me to see that the Senate wants to get rid of these fool contraptions on the telephones. Just because a lot of city slickers in New York and Chicago and Frisco and that evil town of Hollywood have them is no reason we should.

A lot of silly engineer fellows have been wasting their time working on the new-fangled invention going on twenty years, but those smart fellows in the Senate ain't going to be fooled by them. I hope they make them take every doo-dad off the telephones, and if they can't, why, let them take out their old telephones, too. The Senate's a powerful enough body, and they know a lot more about electricity and such than the telephone company. And when they get rid of the telephones I hope they'll get rid of the radios and automobiles, too. Why, it's got so you can't drive a cow up Pennsylvania avenue without scaring the crittur to death. You could in George Washington's time, and what was good enough for him is good enough for us.

Death Lurking at Street Corners When Motorists Encroach on Pedestrians' Rights.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial entitled "Pedestrian Safety" is timely. The sentence, "Motorists turning to the right have little regard for the pedestrian's right-of-way, and traffic officers are not disposed to call them to account for violations of this kind," is very true.

Some weeks ago, when crowds of people were leaving the National Theater, the traffic officer at E and Thirteenth streets gave motorists making the right-hand turn preference over the pedestrians until the light changed and the pedestrians lost their chance of crossing the street.

Motorists in their determination to turn, when they find the pedestrian equally determined to proceed, make a wider and wider curve, until they end on the wrong side of the street.

Another point is the impunity with which motorists drive over the safety zones on Pennsylvania avenue, when they are filled with people who can not retreat because of passing street cars.

Guests Enjoy White House Hospitality

Several Other Dinners Given in Capital Last Night.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover had guests dining with them at the White House last night. This was an informal party, with Mrs. Hoover wheeled to the table in the chair to which she has been confined since she strained her back in a fall several weeks ago.

Several other interesting dinner parties were given last evening, notably one at the Italian embassy, with the Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino as hosts, at which Gov. Ritchie of Maryland, was a guest, and another which Mr. Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, had arranged in compliment to Dr. Enrique Olaya, Minister of Colombia and president-elect of his country, and to the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson.

Those entertained by the Ambassador of Italy and Mme. de Martino were: Senator Hiram Bingham, the Minister of Greece and Mme. Simopoulos, the Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Mr. Alfred P. Dennis, vice chairman of the Tariff Commission, and Mrs. Dennis; Senhora de Coelho de Almeida, wife of the First Secretary of the Brazilian Legation; Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacCracken, jr., Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, and Mrs. Marvin; Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman, Mr. Louis Wiley, of New York, Mr. C. P. Williamson, Prof. and Signora Franco Bruno Alverardi, Comm. Logoluso, Italian Consul to Baltimore; Dr. Eugene Paulus, Mrs. J. Van Kaathoven, Miss Mary Patten, Senorita Maria Padilla, Miss Edith Hoyt and a group from the embassy staff, including Comm. and Signora Bonardelli, Conte Ronchalli di Montorio, Cav. Adriano Monaco, Col. Marco Pennaroli, Comdr. Sbernadori and Nobile Carlo Soardi.

Signor and Signora Averardi, the latter a daughter of Signor Orlando, war-time premier of Italy, are visiting in Washington. Signor Averardi spoke yesterday at the Congressional Club on "Famous Women of the Italian Renaissance," and this afternoon Signora Averardi will give a talk on Italian gardens before the Italy-America Society, which will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Tuckerman.

Secretary Mellon's dinner guests included Dr. Olaya, Secretary and Mrs. Stimson, the Postmaster General and Mrs. Walter F. Brown, Senator and Mrs. William E. Brock, Representative Faith Nourse Rogers, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Augustus Jay, the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Walter E. Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kellogg, Miss Josephine Patten, Mrs. McCook Knox and Mr. David E. Finley.

German Envoy and Wife Are Luncheon Hosts.

The German Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron entertained at luncheon yesterday and later took their guests to the tennis matches.

The Ambassador and Frau von Prittwitz had planned to pass the week-end in Philadelphia but have postponed their trip until next week.

The Minister of Switzerland and Mme. Peter are making tentative plans to leave Washington late in June to pass the summer abroad. Although no definite date has been set they probably will leave the city sometime next month and will return in September.

Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck will sail next Thursday for Trieste on the Vulcania and will go to Budapest to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. S. Pickney Tuck. Mr. Tuck is now attached to the United States Legation at Budapest. Representative and Mrs. Beck will spend the greater part of the summer in the Hungarian capital, making brief visits to Vienna, to the Tyrol and to Salzburg for the music festival.

The Assistant Secretary of War for Aviation and Mrs. F. Trubee Davison will have with them in their box at the polo ball the following guests:

The Assistant Secretary of Navy and Mrs. David S. Ingalls.

Representative and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon.

Representative and Mrs. Lewis W. Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

Mr. and Mrs. John Philip Hill.

Mrs. Davison and her children will leave Washington at the end of next week for their summer home on Long Island. Mr. Davison will remain in town, making occasional week-end visits to his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Davison have purchased a house in Georgetown not far from the residence at 1403 Thirtieth street, which they are now occupying. They will take possession after alterations have been made.

Instead of going to a ranch in the West, as they have for the last fourteen years, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Rinehart will spend the summer at South Dartmouth, Mass., where they have taken a house. It is at South Dartmouth that Mrs. Arthur Amory Houghton, whose winsome daughter, Gratia, is married to Dr. and Mrs. Rinehart's son, Mr. Alan Rinehart, has her summer home, the Meadows, and young Mr. and Mrs. Rinehart will be with her there for part of the summer.

Mrs. Jahncke Returns To Washington.

Mrs. Ernest Lee Jahncke, who has been visiting at her home in New Orleans, has rejoined Mr. Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, in Washington and will remain until after the June week festivities at the Naval Academy. After the close of June week Mr. and Mrs. Jahncke will go South to attend the commencement exercises on June 11 at Newcomb College, from which their daughter, Miss Adele Townsend Jahncke, will be graduated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierrepont Moffat have arrived in Washington and are at the Anchorage for a few days. Mr. Moffat, now secretary of the United States Legation in Berne, was formerly ceremonials officer at the White House. Mrs. Moffat, who was Miss Lilla Grew, is the daughter of the United States Ambassador to Turkey and Mrs. Joseph C. Grew.

PAIRO WILL ENDOWS G. W. U. ATHLETICS

Other Bequests Indicate Sum Left Institution Is to Exceed $200,000.

CAMPUS MAY BE BOUGHT

Athletic activities at the George Washington University are endowed under the terms of the will of Richard E. Pairo, 78-year-old attorney and alumnus, who died May 21, according to the terms of his will filed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court.

While no estimate of the value of the estate is given in the will, it is indicated from several specific bequests that the sum left to the institution will be large, probably between $200,000 and $500,000. Under the terms of the will all the residuary estate after the special bequests totaling approximately $100,000 is left to the university.

Mr. Pairo specified that the money is to be used for the purchase of a campus, to build or equip a gymnasium or for the general promotion of collegiate athletics. The exact sum which the university is to receive, however, will not be learned until Paul V. Rogers and the Union Trust Co., who are named as executors, file the petition for the probate of the will. At that time the estimated value of the estate will be revealed.

Mr. Pairo made special provision for his secretary, Miss Annie M. Treselt, leaving her $25,000, furniture and books in his office with instructions that she be employed for a year at her present salary.

Other special bequests follow: Mrs. Ada C. Moody, $15,000; Miss Ada Moody, $12,000; Elinor A. Totten, $5,000; the Rev. George F. Dudley, $3,000; the Y. W. C. A. Christian Home at 311 C street northwest, $5,000; Episcopal Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital, $2,000, and the Church of the Epiphany, $5,000.

NATIONALISTS CRUSH NORTH CHINA REBELS

Take 20,000 Prisoners and Push Enemy Into Grip of "Pincers."

BANDIT GANGS KILL 100

Shanghai, May 23 (A.P.).—Nationalist government forces have severely defeated the northern alliance rebels with heavy casualties, said government dispatches today, and are driving them in general retreat toward Faifeng. The Nationalists took 20,000 prisoners.

Defeated in a series of engagements which began May 8, Gen. Yen Hsishan, governor of Shansi Province and head of the revolt against the central government, is said in government dispatches to be planning flight to a foreign country in anticipation of the collapse of the insurrection. The Nationalists, advancing northward on the railway beyond Hankow, are reported thrusting the rebel armies before them on another front to converse on Cheng Chow.

Thus the Nationalists are engaged in a pincers movement, westward in northern Honan and northward in that province, to catch the rebel armies at Cheng Chow or Kaifeng, nearby. A decisive battle is expected in this area.

Civilians Reported Slain.

The latest Nationalist victory near Kaifeng took place at Lanfeng, following the capture of Kweiteth by troops personally commanded by Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nationalist government. Chiang reported that a large part of Kweiteh was destroyed and hundreds of civilians killed by the Nationalist artillery bombardment.

The few foreigners in the war area were reported unmolested.

Five hundred bandits today looted two towns near Suining in Northern Klangsu Province, killing 100 of the villagers and kidnaping 400 for ransom.

This development followed receipts of news here that 300 outlaws, half of them women, had attacked and plundered the village of Woosung, south of Canton. Guards were overcome and 100 persons carried off for ransom.

Soldiers in Mutiny.

Hongkong, May 23 (A.P.).—Soldiers numbering 1,000, stationed at Swatow, mutinied today, murdered their commanding officer and fled to the mountains.

A French airplane, one of three en route from Canton to Hanoi, French Indo China, was forced to land 30 miles north of Maco and turned over. A swarm of Chinese robbed the airmen and removed parts of their plane.

Men's Club of Y.M.C.A. To Stage Extravaganza

Nine stellar acts, juggling, trick roller skating, feats of strength, with clowns and freaks galore, will comprise an extravaganza of the Y. M. C. A. Men's Club to be held at 8 o'clock in the "Y" gymnasium, 1736 G street northwest, as a benefit performance for the boys' department.

S. Percy Oliver, a clown juggler, will act as ringmaster for the comprehensive program which numbers a roller-skating act by 77-year-old Walter Laidlaw, reputedly the oldest performer of the specialty. Trained animal acts will be offered by the Boys' Club of Washington, with music to be furnished by the Mithras Sanctorum Band, led by Frank Kidwell.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FAMILIES of midshipmen, not able to attend the June week festivities at the Naval Academy, will be able to hear the graduation exercises which will be broadcast for the first time by Columbia on Thursday, June 5.

The orchestra and chorus from WBAC, New York, and the Philadelphia Boys Harmonica Band stood out in the program Wednesday night welcoming WPG, Atlantic City, as a member of the Columbia network.

Otherwise, from a musical standpoint, the offering was very disappointing.

APPARENTLY even the country's radio czar is not immune from the terrors which sometimes attend broadcasting. It is understood that Chairman Charles McK. Saltzman, of the Federal Radio Commission, has asked that his speech to be made before the Radio Manufacturers Association at Atlantic City early in June not be broadcast.

The reason given is Gen. Saltzman's dread of microphone fright.

Instead of leaving the radio editors "high and dry," as is frequently the case when radio stations make late changes in their schedules, Station WAIU, Columbus, Ohio, announcers explain on the air that it is not the fault of the newspapers when the printed announcements and the actual program do not agree. When a change that is too late to get in the papers is made, the following announcement is placed on the air:

"Because of an emergency, WAIU has been forced to make a change in its schedule as announced to the newspapers, and therefore it is through no fault of the editors that this station's schedule appears incorrectly in today's papers."

At the unveiling of the statue of Col. John Campbell, of Arizona, in Statuary Hall at the Capitol at 3 o'clock this afternoon, an address will be made by Gen. J. G. Harbord, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America. It will not be broadcast.

WHEN Bishop Freeman, of the Washington Cathedral, speaks at the special festival service in Canterbury, England, June 14, at which he is to be the special preacher, his voice may be heard in Washington and throughout the United States.

Plans for broadcasting the service are being made by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Evidently Amos 'n' Andy were kidding Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, when they introduced into their skit, "Kent Cooper, president of the Tired and Hungry Business Men's Club."

An idea of how well Columbia thinks of its new feature, the Crockett Mountaineers, Kentucky hillbillies, who had a try-out in Washington before the advertising people last week, is that beginning Monday they will put them on WMAL at the same time as "Amos 'n' Andy" appear over WRC.

Because of the unprecedented popularity of the latter team, this is considered the toughest spot on the bill.

Harry Swan, heard in "The Show Boat," once broadcast a drama in which he took all eleven parts.

RADIO COMMISSIONER LAFOUNT keeps hammering away on the theory that the only way to improve radio reception in the United States is to eliminate a number of stations. This is very sound, but will never prevail as long as there are senators and congressmen on the Hill to which these stations may appeal.

Let the commission try to cancel the licenses of any stations, however small and useless they may be, and see what happens.

Compensation for daylight saving last year was that the Slumber hour came into the Capital through WRC at 10 p. m., an hour earlier.

This year apparently it doesn't come in at all.

It took only ten seconds to switch WFAA at Dallas from 5,000 to 50,000 watts, the South's first superpower station.

HEARD from Station WIBW, Topeka:

Diner—"Why are those two waitresses watching me so closely.

Manager—"Well, they are cooking school students getting some practical training and if you don't eat your omelet they've failed in their final test."

If atmospheric conditions permit, Columbia hopes to relay an account of the English Derby to American listeners from Epsom Downs early in June. If successful, the race description would be heard in Washington at about 8:30 o'clock in the morning.

Dare Interprets the Mode

A bathrobe that takes the place of a bath towel when you step out of the tub is the Parisienne's idea of luxury.

Paris, May 23.

ANY one who has ever stepped out of a European bathtub into the satisfying, enveloping comfort of a "peignor de bain" will hie herself to the nearest department store and buy two or three of them to take home. I don't know why they don't have these bathrobes made of bath-toweling and for actual use after the bath in our United States, but they don't. Or if they do, they are certainly not in very general use, neither in the best of families or any other families. But if you feel like taking my word for it, they are deliciously comfortable and you ought to try one, really!

There is one for you and one for the youngster illustrated so that you can see what they are. Doesn't the idea just sound comfy?

* * * *

And just for fear that you might not be able to buy a bathtowel bathrobe with which to dry yourself after the bath and keep warm and comfy while doing it, I've made you an illustrated leaflet telling you how to go about making one. Believe me when I tell you that you'll never look at another bathtowel, for after the bath at least, if you ever do make one of these! Better get that stamped, self-addressed envelope ready to send to the Dare Department of The Washington Post right away, because you might forget about sending it Monday!

* * * *

I think this is as good a way as any to break the news to La Chic Secretaire that there were three things I just couldn't live without today in the new collection of the Maison Lucile. We're working very much overtime tonight for our deah publik (and for maybe a cup of Turkish coffee that I'll take her to get when we leave the boat train where we have to take this story to be mailed tonight).

But anyway, picture if you can the most ravishing evening gown of dark gray tulle, so breathlessly simple and lovely that every one in the audience held their breath thinking that girl and dress and all would just disappear like a bored soap bubble.

And all around the skirt, around and around and in rows upon rows was narrow fine white braid all put on by hand, and holding the tulle out buffantly from the figure. This white braid was repeated on the cape collar, and the whole gave the mannequin a mystical air that was completely captivating.

The other thing I couldn't live without was a mauve crepe pajama lounging suit of unusual charm—and I guess I won't tell you about the third one until I balance the check book.

* * * *

If you send the letter today for the leaflet telling you how to make a smart three-piece pajama suit for him, yes, I ripped up all three pieces of an expensive suit which I bought at one of the world's most famous tailors for men just to be able to tell you how to do this—and that's how much I lov-v-ve you! I mean you can have the leaflet if you send for it today.

* * * *

And after sending in your letter, make it a point to look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in the big Sunday Post. It's there every Sunday.

Au Revoir!

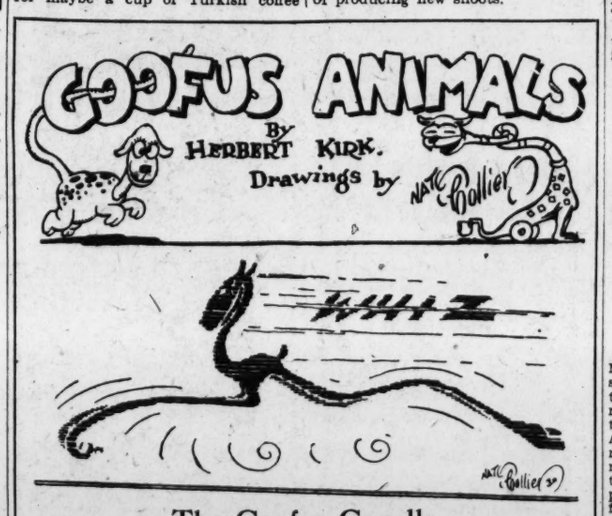
HOW TO ERADICATE POISON SUMAC.

(Bureau of Plant Industry.)

Various chemicals, including common salt and kerosene and other oils, may be used in killing poison sumac. The cheapest grade of common salt is effective and economical.

One method of treating with salt consists of cutting the poison sumac plants close to the ground and applying dry salt on and around the newly cut surfaces and to sprouts that may appear later.

Low bushy growths of poison sumac may be removed by grubbing out the plants with a mattock. It is important to remove the roots as completely as practicable, since fragments left in the ground are capable of producing new shoots.



The Goofus Gazelle

The Goofus Gazelle can run very well
In fact he's so fleet on his feet
That I'll say for this Goofus
He's not trying to spoof us
When he tells us he's never been beat.
He's run many races in various places
And his time for the mile's nothing flat
But, to tell you the truth,
Though I haven't got proof
It may have been faster than that!

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"GEMINI."

IF May 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., and from 11 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m., and from 1 p. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Very positive influences will be in force on this date, and the events of the day will be out of your control, in spite of previous planning and foresight. A decided change is augured, and you will venture down unexplored pathways.

Children born on this May 24 will be clever, with an abundance of conceit. They will be ambitious, but will lack perseverance and tenacity of purpose and will often fall just short of attaining their goal. They will be loyal in their friendships.

Like so many born under the above sign, there can be glimpsed a fair amount of restlessness in your nature, but it is not fatal to your success or happiness. It stimulates you toward excessive activity, and you must always be doing something, thinking about something. Your energies are not burned up, however, doing foolish nothings, for you have too many vital interests, which supply natural outlets for your vital forces. You like action, but not changes, and you stick to the same hobbies and work. There, too, is a good deal of sentiment about you, and a great deal of loyalty, which makes you cling to old friends, old places and old things.

You shake hands with life as though you mean it, and you face the world and human nature as they really are and feel satisfied. University degrees, wealth or fame can never make you lose the common touch, which makes such an appeal to humanity. You do not shelve your ideals; they are your constant companions. You are a good "mixer" with the rest of society. You know how to work, but you are not contemptuous of play. Your character is a strong one, but you are not unpleasingly dominant. You are capable of speaking the truth boldly, but as a rule your tongue is a gentle one.

Successful people born May 24:

1—Queen Victoria, a Queen of England.
2—Harry Emerson Fosdick, clergyman.
3—Richard Warren Corwin, physician.
4—George Grey Barnard, sculptor.
5—James Oppenheimer, author.
6—Robert Hood Bowers, composer.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

Please tell me whether Canterbury bells are perennials or annuals, also somethnig of their culture.

JULIA B. K.

Most of the campanulas (Canterbury bells) are biennials. For this reason seed must be sown each year in order to have plants which will bloom the next year. Do not sow the seed too late. It should be sown any time between May and August in rich soil which has been carefully prepared. Water it daily.

Please tell what to do to get rid of blight which has attacked delphiniums that have previously been healthy.

MRS. THOMAS Y.

Delphiniums are frequently troubled with blight. When this occurs, dig some dry Bordeaux about the crowns of the plants or spray weekly with ammoniacal copper carbonate. Another thing that will help to get rid of blight is to always use bonemeal as a fertilizer and never manure.

Please tell me the name of the fastest growing vine you know about. I live in a rented house and want to cover up some unsightly space.

MRS. B. H. K.

Polygonum. This vine is free from disease or pests. It makes a growth of 25 to 30 feet in one season.

Kindly tell me the care required by a Florida pondolus tree.

MRS. M. L.

I am sorry, but I do not know the Florida pondolus.

I have rose slips under jars in a sunny garden. When will it be safe to uncover them? May I transplant them at this time? When may I uncover a carnation cutting, also under a jar, but in the house? MRS. B. F.

You may remove the jars from your roses after May 1. You may uncover a carnation cutting in the house at any time. It will be safe to transplant either set of cuttings after May 1.

Please tell me the name of the plant of which I am inclosing a leaf. It bears a purple, daisy-like flower. Is it merely a plant grown for the Easter trade? FLORENCE B.

The plant of which you inclosed a leaf is a cineraria, an annual and of no further use after its bloom is spent. As a rule, when the cineraria is going to seed it becomes the prey of insects, for which reason it is wise to discard it as soon as the flowers begin to fade.

Please tell me whether it is true that larkspur seed more than a year old will not flower. HELEN G. K.

Larkspur seed more than a year old will not, as a rule, grow.

Please tell me how often to transplant old-fashioned clove pinks.

AN AMATEUR GARDENER.

They should be divided often, else the plants will choke themselves out. As a rule, they should be lifted at least once in three years.

Please tell me if Chinese balloon flowers bloom the same season they are started. MRS. GEORGE T. W.

These plants nearly always flower the same season they are started. They grow readily, sending up long spikes, so that nicely formed bushes are formed in a couple of seasons. These plants should be set one inch below the surface of the soil.

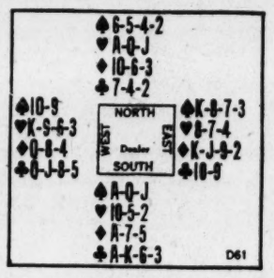
WORK'S BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

One of the first principles of play which a beginner should master is that high-card combinations are apt to produce the best results if the lead be toward them; i. e., if the first card of the trick be played from the partner's hand. This is practically always the case when the high cards are a tenace. A tenace is a combination of cards with the middle card, of what otherwise would be three touching cards, missing. Ace-Queen is known as the major tenace, King-Jack as the minor tenace; Ace-Queen-Ten is known as the "double tenace."

The advantage of leading toward tenaces is illustrated by the following hand:



The Declarer (South) is playing No Trump; the opening lead is a small Club. Declarer, before he touches a card in dummy, plans his management of the hand. He sees that he can win tricks with his four Aces and his King of Clubs, but to make game four more tricks are needed. With the cards in Declarer's two hands divided as they are, it is probable that an adversary will hold four Spades; consequently the only probability of obtaining the four additional tricks needed to make game lies in winning with Declarer's two Queens and two Jacks. The process of making a winner of the lower card (or cards) of a tenace is called "finesse."

After winning the first Club trick, closed hand should lead a Heart and dummy should play the Jack or Queen if West plays small. Dummy then should lead a Spade and closed hand should play the Jack or Queen if East plays small. These two plays are finesses and, as they win, it is obvious that they should be repeated. It will be noted that Declarer would make game by playing the hand in that way.

"CARD CLUBS—AND LIFE."

CAN you tell me what to do to keep from going crazy? This is my first year out of college. I am not allowed to even think of such a thing as a career, and you would need to see the men around here to understand how hopeless it is to just plan for the time when I will have a home to think of. So here I am with life whirling by for some people, but just crawling past for me. What is the answer and what was the object of sending me to college? My friends all have jobs except those who happened to fall in love and are now married. Do you think it really is my duty to sit here in a house that is not mine and pretend that I am thrilled to walk down street after lunch and look in windows? I am part of the world and I have been snatched out of it. I want to get out and do things as other people do. Mother's card club is all right for mother, but you can't expect me to get up a temperature over the good souls. Just what is a girl to do who knows no men except nit-wits and who is called ungrateful for wanting to live in an active life instead of the middle-aged existence of a small and particularly uninteresting town? And, by the way, am I ungrateful?

"CO-ED."

Is she ungrateful Have we any right to bring people into the world to keep us company and help us entertain the card club? Should our children register gratitude for life because we educate them? Is there any reason why this mother should not content herself with the card club and her husband and allow this girl, who, after all, is an individual first and somebody's offspring after that, to go her way happily and busily? The mother, with her well-established habits and activities, will never be as miserable because of the girl's absence as the girl is through her enforced presence in an environment that is utterly inadequate to her needs as a human being. The home is a sufficient interest only to the home girl and the girl who has always been made to feel that the home was as much hers as her mother's.

If a daughter is to remain at home, then, from high school age, she should help make the home—select the new rug, shop for the curtains, plan the meals a week in advance. And right here I might say that a great many homes could be greatly improved if the H. S. girl of the family were permitted a hand in the management. She is taught food values, and taught to produce appetizing meals from food products her mother never heard of and cuts of meat that her mother has never even asked to see.

Instead, these girls are excluded from any participation in home making and then expected to feel as interested in the home as if it were of their making. In our opinion, "Co-Ed" should sally forth into the world and find her place in the world while mother entertains the card club.

Summer Muzzling Of Dogs Ordered

Dr. Fowler Loses Battle to Have Safety Measure in Force All Year.

Dogs must be muzzled during the four summer months, the District Commissioners decided yesterday, fixing the muzzling period from June 1.

Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer, lost his annual fight to have the Commissioners provide for the muzzling of dogs throughout the year. Despite the fact that every year he has made the recommendation it has been modified to cover only the summer months.

The health officer pointed out that persons are bitten by unmuzzled dogs throughout the year, and declared that it was a popular fallacy that dogs are subject to rabies only during the summer months. Dogs held on leash need not be muzzled, under the Commissioners' order.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

PERHAPS the most comprehensive manner of answering a large number of inquiries that have come to this desk concerning the present status and probable future of the wide screen and wide-angle projection is to reproduce the following observations from the last issue of the Exhibitors Herald-World:

New York—Accession of Harley L. Clarke to power in the Fox organizations brought a decision of importance to the industry at large when it was decided that the development of Grandeur film, instead of being rushed with all speed, will be brought about in a slow and orderly manner consistent with the best business principles.

This decision brings Fox into line with his principal rivals, who already had decided, after a series of discussions at the Hays office, that wide film ought not to be precipitated upon the industry in the headlong manner that sound was.

Now, it appears, there will be no concentrated wide film production for at least a year, something for which a harassed industry should thank this new Fox chief.

It will be recalled that in January the formal leaders of this business, headed by Will H. Hayes, were making every effort to prevent the hasty advent of wide film. Wise as the result of the bitter experience in the sudden arrival of sound pictures before the industry was set for the shock these leaders were hopeful of delaying the coming of 75-millimeter stock until every move had been carefully prepared in advance.

That, however, was not the case with William Fox. Hopeful of getting the jump on his competitors, even if his success should prove a detriment to the industry at large, he pushed the new width with all possible speed and planned the installation of special projection machinery in all the principal theaters of his many chains.

Four Fox films in 75 millimeters were ready and the first, "Happy Days," had its showing at the Roxy in the middle of February.

Wide film activity, however, was not confined to the Fox organization. Paramount, while firm in its plan not to discuss the question, firm in its belief that the industry was not yet ready for it, still had wide film plans, had given a successful demonstration of Magna film at the Rivoli Theater and was ready to jump into the breach with the new medium should it prove necessary.

The enterprising Radio organization likewise was taking cognizance of the new trend and it is no secret that many of the Loew Theaters are being equipped with both wide screen and the new projection equipment incidentr to the change over in celluloid width.

But, with the exception of Fox, all the producers feared the advent of the new width at least until sound had properly been absorbed—something which, in spite of the success of talking pictures, has not happened to date throughout the country. Exhibitors will have to make plenty of money on sound before they are ready to lay out additional funds for the installation of wide film equipment.

In order that you may know where to look for them, the same publication reports the following contract engagements from Hollywood:

Wallace Beery, M-G-M, long term.

James Neil, R-K-O, Dix film.

Roxanne Curtis, Fox, long term.

John Stepping, G-M-G, one picture.

Lila Lee, First National, Beaudine film.

Bert Lytell, Columbia, "Brothers."

Virginia Sale, First National "Broken Dishes."

Marcia Manners, Paramount, long term.

Jacques Cartier, Sam Goldwyn "Whoopee."

Ilka Chase, Dorothy Jacobson, George Brent, Fox, short terms.

Mildred Van Dorn, Fox, "Devil With Women."

Sue Carol, R-K-O, long term.

Helen Garden, Paramount, long term, concert singer.

Gus Shy, M-G-M, "March of Time."

Robert Thornby, Ed Brady, Pickford, "Forever Yours," one film.

Ann Christy, Mack Sennett, three comedies.

Douglas Fairbanks, jr., First National, Beaudine film.

It sometimes happens that these Hollywood title changers don't do so well, according to Mr. Hubbard Keavy.

A picture called "Harmony at Home" was shown in several cities. But a snappier title, something with more "box office" appeal, was sought. So "She Steps Out" was put on it. It is a matter of record that the picture took in greater receipts with the "home" tag.

One of the real pioneers of the picture business is a featured character actor appearing with Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Caught Short," at the Columbia. Edward Dillon was a member of the famous D. W. Griffith Biograph Company of 1908, which included Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford and other celebrities of today.

COMMITTEE FAVORS PHILIPPINE MEASURE

Hawes-Cutting Bill Ordered Reported to Senate; Vote Up to Next Session.

LIBERTY ISSUE INCLUDED

(Associated Press.)

The Hawes-Cutting bill to grant the Philippine Islands the right in five years to vote on whether they desire independence was ordered favorably reported yesterday by the Senate territories committee, but action by the Senate probably will be deferred until next session.

Two Republicans and six Democrats voted for the measure, Chairman Bingham and three of his Republican colleagues voted against it. Senators Johnson, of California, and Vandenberg, of Michigan, both Republicans, were absent.

Will Not Ask Action Now.

The measure, introduced jointly by Senators Hawes (Democrat), Missouri, and Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, has been opposed by Secretaries Stimson and Hurley. Senator Hawes and Senator Cutting indicated they would not request action on the measure at this session on account of the short time remaining before adjournment. Senator Hawes said he did not want to interfere in any way with an early adjournment.

Mr. Cutting said that when the bill is reported to the Senate next week he will ask that a date be fixed for a vote at the next session beginning in December.

The bill provides for a convention of representatives of Philippine Islands to draft a constitution for a government. The constitution must be approved by the Filipinos at an election and by Congress.

Filipinos Would Elect.

If approved, the Filipinos would be authorized to elect officers to act under the supervision of the United States, which would be represented by a high commissioner.

At the end of five years the Filipinos would vote on independence, and, if still desired, the United States would recognize it as an independent nation.

The bill provides for a gradual increase in tariff duties on products exported to the United States. At the end of the five-year period the products would pay the same tariff as those from other nations.

Two Farm Boys Held for Murder

Accused of Smothering Aged Woman for Purpose of Robbery.

Charleston, Miss., May 23 (A.P.).—Two farm boys, Jack Williams, 17, and his brother Luther, 14, were indicted by a grand jury here today on a charge of murdering Mrs. Henrietta Dees, 85, by smothering her and then robbing her farm home.

Her body was found in bed last April 25. Nothing was disclosed to indicate she had undergone violence, and a coroner's jury decided she died from natural causes. Authorities discovered that a money belt she was known to have kept in the house was missing.

The Williams boys were suspected soon thereafter because they began spending money freely throughout the community. They were arrested ten days ago.

"It Controls the Nerves"

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I could not stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now, and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your medicine to many girls with the same good results."—Ethel Fleetwood, 3023 Bandin Street, New Orleans, Louisiana.

Newark Loses Position As Fifteenth City in Size

Minneapolis, Eighteenth in 1920 Census Passes New Jersey City With Gain of 21.5 Per Cent; Washington Retains Place.

(Associated Press.)

Newark, N. J., fifteenth city in size in 1920, entered the 1930 list with so small a percentage of increase as to lose her position.

Already Newark, present population 439,506, a 6.02 per cent increase, has been passed by Minneapolis, eighteenth city in 1920, with a 1930 showing of 462,611, a 21.5 per cent increase.

Ten years ago the tenth to fifteenth cities in order of size were Buffalo, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Washington and Newark.

Today the ratings run: San Francisco, 625,974; Buffalo, 572,913; Milwaukee, 568,962; Washington, 485,716; Minneapolis, 462,611; Newark, 439,506.

Cincinnati and New Orleans, both of which rated ahead of Minneapolis last year, have not yet reported.

One Dies, Two Hurt As Airplane Falls

Pilot Is Killed Instantly When Ship Hits Top of Tree in Landing.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 23 (A.P.). Harold Mayer, 25, of Chicago, was killed instantly early today when an airplane he was piloting crashed during an attempt to land at Waynetown, 10 miles west of here. Two passengers, Mrs. Louise McCuster and Dr. Frederick Harvey, both of Chicago, were injured, but not seriously.

Dr. Harvey, who also was bruised, and Mrs. McCuster chartered the plane at Chicago last night and were flying to Valdosta, Ga., where the woman's mother, Mrs. R. Stothert, was injured in an accident yesterday. Dr. Harvey left later for Indianapolis to charter another plane, and will continue his trip.

Residents at Waynetown said they heard Mayer's plane pass over this morning with the motor missing. A short while later the pilot attempted to land at an emergency landing field. He flew too low, however, and crashed into the top of a tree. The plane fell on its nose.

Bus Hits Road Scraper; Seven Passengers Hurt

Indianapolis, May 23 (A.P.).—Seven persons were slightly injured when a motor bus of the Colonial Stages Line crashed on a road scraper today near here. A guard rail prevented the bus from plunging down a steep embankment.

The injured included Mrs. Florence Gambelle, Detroit; John Heinz, Hamilton, Ohio; M. E. Martin, Detroit; Albert Knetzia, Hamilton, Ohio, and Thelma Ross, Cincinnati. The bus was bound from Nashville, Tenn., to Cincinnati.

Inquest Asked in Death Of Rose Marie, Actress

Chicago, May 23 (A.P.).—Jean Farrel, an actress who police said appeared in Rose Marie, died in Grant Hospital today under circumstances which led the attending physician to ask for an inquest.

According to Barbara Bossie, another actress, Miss Farrel recently had been unable to sleep. Last night, she said, Miss Farrel took six medicine tablets, although the directions on the bottle prescribed only two.

New Building Law To Go Into Effect

Shipstead Provision Will Cut Construction Heights in Some Areas.

The District Commissioners yesterday moved to put into operation the Shipstead law authorizing control of height, exterior design and construction of private buildings and semi-public buildings in areas about the Government Mall development.

The law provides that the District Commissioners and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission shall prepare plats defining the areas covered under the law for which special building permits will be required. Preparation of these plats will be begun at once but will require some little time, the Commissioners said in a letter to the Fine Arts Commission.

Application of the law, however, should not be held up awaiting completion and final approval of these plats, the Commissioners said, and they "propose to inaugurate at once the plan of sending to the Fine Arts Commission for approval plans of all buildings described in the act." They requested the Fine Arts Commission to forward suggestions as to methods of procedure.

Prisoner Admits Killing Ohio Man 16 Years Ago

Meadville, Pa., May 23 (A.P.).—A confession that he killed Sam Toto in Cleveland, Ohio, sixteen years ago, was obtained today from Sam Nicolose, a prisoner in the county jail here, according to Meadville police.

Nicolose's statement said he killed the man because of threats made against him and because he was compelled to give Toto money. After the shooting he said he went to Cincinnati, Ohio, then to New Orleans, and then came to Meadville, where he has operated a fruit store. Police said the man had waived extradition to Cleveland.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

DIFFER ON TUBERCULOSIS.

JUST when Dr. Dublin is busiest in predicting the elimination of consumption among human beings, and even setting a date when the evening will come, another authority of equal renown says we are due for an increased prevalence of the disease. Dr. Dublin is a statistician and bases his opinion on the performance of the past. Dr. Opie is a biologist and bases his opinion on biology and epidemiology.

Dr. Opie's views on the nature of consumption are of interest because of their relationship to his prophecy and for other reasons as well. He holds that most of the consumption found in adults is the result of new infection and not a lighting up of an infection which has lain latent since childhood. This theory leads to the conclusion that exposure of adults to infection in the home and work place must be guarded against. A policy of protecting children, but paying no attention to adults is wrong. According to this theory, fatigue, work and worry are not the oustanding causes of consumption in adult life.

Dr. Opie comes near to saying that a little tuberculosis is good for the child. Most children acquire the infection before the reach school age. This childhood infection may cause ordinary lung tuberculosis and death, or a latent tuberculosis, which may become extensive, or a bone, gland, or meingeal tuberculosis with severe injury. However, these are the exceptional outcomes. The rules is for a few glands to become infected, for these to heal, and thus make the child immune for a number of years. As life goes by this immunity is apt to wear out. If it does and the person picks up an infection he gets a disease of the lungs commonly known as consumption.

This disease pursues a course that differs markedly from the type of tuberculosis found in childhod. When adults develop what the lay persons calls galloping consumption it is because they has not been partially protected by a childhood infection.

These views suggest that we try hard to find a method of immunizing in childhood, which will either provide an immunity which will last for a lifetime, or else a method which can be used every seven years, as is the case with smallpox, or that, at least, can be reused at, say twenty years.

SWELLING OF THE LEGS.

M. L. writes: Please tell me what causes swelling of the legs. I am 22 years of age and apparently in good health, but I have noticed in the last year that my legs are much larger than they were and appear swollen, being much larger at night than in the morning, accompanied by an aching numbness. I might add that I am not on my feet during the day and I do not wear the round elastic garters.

REPLY.

Among the causes of this symptom are heart disease, Bright's disease and sometimes cirrhosis of the liver and anemia. It may be caused by any obstruction to the flow of blood or lymph in the legs. Have a physician find the cause.

STOCK LEADERS RISE FROM 1 TO 5 POINTS

Utilities and Industrials Lead Gains as Market Finishes Strong.

COMMODITY PRICES SAG

New York, May 23 (A.P.).—The stock market made a comfortable rally today. Higher tendencies that had developed in yesterday's late trading were expanded into a modest buying movement which, if not particularly aggressive, was nevertheless sustained, forcing a covering of short commitments and encouraging the placement of numerous lines on the long side.

The upward move carried the leaders 1 to 5 points higher, and there were larger gains in less active issues. Final prices were close to the highest of the day, for profit taking on the advance was only moderate and the market finished strong.

The existence of an oversold condition as the result of the persistent professional liquidation earlier in the week, favored a technical recovery, but steady investment buying as well as pool accumulation of prominent issues was influential in determining the course of prices. Utilities and industrials displayed the most noticeable strength. American Telephone, selling without the rights, showed a maximum gain of 6 points and closed 5¼ higher. Electric Power & Light, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, American Can, U. S. Steel, New York Central, Johns-Manville, Radio and General Electric rallied about 2. The American Tobacco issues soared 5 points, Westinghouse Electric nearly 5; Calumet & Arizona, 2¾; Worthington Pump, 3½, and Eastman Kodak, 4.

Case Gains 12½ Points.

Case was up 12½ on the day and Diamond Match 9¼.

News developments were insignificant, unless the absence of important change, as noted in the week-end business reviews, could be construed as important. Although Dun's found that "indications of betterment are more distinct in some instances," they were "not representative of a broad and decisive revival, and sentiment is more than usually sensitive to varying conditions." The summary added that the wide scope of the readjustment was being illustrated in numerous ways, pointing out that "even many months after the beginning of the commodity price decline the movement gives no definite signs of ending."

Bradstreet's found that aside from slight further ease in the general level of lines, especially in iron and steel and farm products affected by speculation, "there are strikingly few changes to be observed in the general trade and industrial field."

Reports from the Santa Fe Springs oil field conveyed a hope that conferences on the curtailment programm had given the situation a more favorable turn and that one of the principal objectors to the restricted agreement might be brought into line. Most of the operators were said to be observing the agreement, and the advices added that details for signing the six months output restriction pact had been arranged.

New York Central Strong.

Strength of New York Central was coincident with announcement that the road had acquired a 4.6 per cent interest in Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, which is controlled by interests close to Central. Lackawanna is assigned to the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate system in the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation plan. New York Central has been interested for some time in the possibility of acquiring a shorter route to the West, thereby relieving its main line.

The commodity markets eased. Wheat and corn sold off more than a cent, while cotton was 5 to 10 points lower in a steady close. Sugar was off slightly.

Foreign exchanges softened slightly. The Spanish peseta, up 5 points, was an exception to the general trend of the European rates. Sterling cables sagged 3-32.

Credit conditions remained stationary. Call money was in supply at 3 per cent and the undertone of time funds eased, although there was no change in the rates.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, May 23 (A.P.).—Reports of unusually favorable prospects for the United States 1930 spring wheat crop had a bearish effect on grain values today. The outlook for the Canadian crop also was reported as relatively auspicious and selling was further promoted by nonfulfillment of predictions of widespread frosts last night. Forecasts of frost tonight in Kansas, Nebraska and the Northwest were virtually ignored.

Closing quotations on wheat were weak, 1⅜@2¼c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 @1¼c down, oats ⅜@⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

In connection with the new domestic spring wheat outlook Chicago crop authorities indicated today that high condition figures were to be looked for in the monthly trade summaries on June 1. Even before this information was at hand the market showed downward swing to absence of predicted frosts and because of evidence that exporters of North American wheat were not following advances in prices with offers of demand from exporters and speculators led promptly to much selling on the part of yesterday's buyers, and the market as a whole acted in decided contrast with yesterday's display of strength.

Reversal of the wheat market's action as compared with yesterday was rendered the more striking because of upturns in Liverpool quotations and of continued bullish crop advices from Europe, especially France, about the domestic winter wheat were likewise more or less disquieting, dispatches from Nebraska in particular telling of spindly plants with short heads between Crete, Hastings and Superior. Pessimistic advices were also received from the Texas Panhandle, where one large owner said that he would not make half a crop owing to excessively dry weather and high winds during the last week.

Corn and oats prices receded with wheat and as a result of reports that the new corn crop in many sections is 20 days or more ahead of last year.

Provisions were somewhat firmer as a result of upturns in the value of hogs.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS GAIN AS SALES RISE

American Telephone 4½s Score 6-Point Jump in Generally Fair Day.

FOREIGN ISSUES STEADY

New York, May 23 (A.P.).—Convertible bonds dominated the trading on the New York Stock Exchange today in a session which in contrast with the recent dullness was spirited. The demand for the stock privilege issues, particularly the five most active bonds, brought the total volume to a good figure, despite the fact that many bond men were out of town for their annual field day.

Investment issues showed an inclination to go somewhere, but by the close only a few had advanced appreciably. The general tone of the market, however, was satisfactory. Moderate demand for rails firmed prices during the earlier hours, but many yielded ground later to finish steady or only slightly changed.

This was the last day which the American Telephone 4½s could be converted into common stock carrying the rights and the bonds' performance was sensational. Sagging 3 points at the start, it rebounded 3 to end the day 6 points above yesterday's close. Officers of the company were besieged by bond holders anxious to make the exchange for stock and only a small proportion of the original $219,000,000 issue remained unconverted at the close of business.

Philadelphia Reading Coal & Iron 6s were heavily in demand and rose nearly 2 points to a new 1930 high for the second day in succession. General Theater 6s of 1944 appreciated 3½ points, and a half dozen other issues gained moderately.

There was fair activity in the foreign list and prices were steady to firm. European and South American governments were most in demand. Bolivian 7s gained 1⅞ and Brazil 6½s 1¼. Japanese 5½s eased in an active market. French 7s gained a fraction.

United States Governments were quiet. Liberty fourth 4¼s, registered, touched a new high. Most of the group are close to the high level of the year.

The Rock Island Railway announced that substantially all of the $32,228,000 issue of 30-year 4½ per cent convertibles had been subscribed for by stockholders.

2 RECORDS FALL AS EASTERN WINS HIGH SCHOOL MEET; U. S. WINS DAVIS CUP ZONE FINAL BY DOUBLES VICTORY

MEXICAN PAIR BOWS IN 3-SET MATCH TO VAN RYN, ALLISON

Llano and Unda Beaten vy 6-0, 6-1, 6-3 at Chevy Chase.

Singles, Exhibitions to Conclude Program Here Today.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THE gleaming racquets of John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison that flashed in the sun of yesterday's summery afternoon at the Chevy Chase Club spelled defeat for Mexico's Davis Cup doubles team of Manuel Llano and Alphonso Unda to the tune of 6—0, 6—1, 6—3, and placed the United States at the top of the American zone, a position from which it can hurl a challenge to the eventual winner of the European zone.

Added to the wins of George M. Lott and Wilmer Allison in the singles encounters on Thursday, yesterday's doubles victory gives America the required three tallies necessary to clinch a Davis Cup encounter.

But although America has defeated the brave little band of netmen from Mexico, today's two singles matches, even if in the nature of dear old Aunty Climax, should prove well worthwhile. District tennis fans who were unfortunate enough to miss Ricardo Tapia's great performance on Thursday against Wilmer Allison, may see him play today against a yet to be named opponent. Matches today will commence at 2:30 and will be followed by exhibition encounters.

Allison Cops Individual Honors of Match.

America won the toss before yesterday's doubles match and elected to serve. Van Ryn's hard delivery aped down into the Mexicans' courts and forced them to retaliate with shots that barely cleared the barrier and were quickly pounced on by Allison and smashed far out of the reach of the Mexicans.

While Van Ryn played his customary brilliant game of doubles, individual honors must go to Allison, who seemed an entirely different person from the lackadaisical backcourter of Thursday. He gave local fans a touch of his mighty overhead, ably backed up by his partner.

Llano and Unda were pretty much at sea throughout the 45 minutes it took to complete the match. Llano was never able to plant his feet, commence his back swing, hit the ball and follow through. The Americans zipped their shots to his feet with stinging speed and regularity. Unda was not far behind his compatriot in errors. He, too, was hurried into making probably more errors than he has been guilty of in the last decade.

Allison's booming overhead smash and Van Ryn's crisp volleying and consistent return of service piled up a lead of nine consecutive games before the Mexicans broke through on Unda's service for their lone mark in the second set. Some idea of the superiority of the Americans may be gained by knowledge of the fact that they yielded but five scattered points in the first set.

Mexicans Start Well in Third Set.

Llano and Unda gave evidence of averting an absolute rout at the start of the third set. By keeping the ball in play and waiting for the Americans to miss they garnered the first two games. But their superiority was short lived. Van Ryn and Allison, taking the net position regardless of whether the Mexicans were there or not, swept through with a barrage of shots that gave them the set and match at 6—3.

Yesterday's match was ably handled by Conrad B. Doyle, former District champion, who occupied the tall chair. His aides along the lines were Owen Howenstein, Fred Doyle, Herb Shepard, Bob Newby, Louis I. Doyle, Beals Wright, Joseph Rutley, John Ladd and Maj. J. H. Hills.

Those who remained to witness the exhibition doubles match between George Lott and John Doeg and Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin saw the most virile and stinging tennis that has visited this region of the country in recent years. Lott and Doeg, who are national doubles champions, saw Bell and Mangin rip off a love set with drives and serves and volleys that fairly shrieked.

National Champs Win in Exhibition.

Apparently unmoved, the national champions came back strongly to win at 6—1. Doeg's rapier-like service and Lott's all-around greatness com-

MRS. MOODY, MISS RYAN IN FINAL

English Pair Defeated in 21 Minutes by 6-1, 6-2 Scores.

AUTEUIL, France, May 23 A.P.).—Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, daughters of sunny California, playing in polar weather, defeated a strong pair of English players today in the semifinals of the French hard court tennis championships.

With Queen Helen volleying smashing and serving in greatly improved form, the American standard bearers in the women's doubles division won from Joan Fry and Ermyntrude Harvey by scores of 6—1, 6—2, to achieve the honor of being the first players in any event of this rain-soaked tournament to reach the finals.

It took the Americans only 21 minutes to demonstrate their superiority over the English girls, who had been rated as leading contenders for the title.

Moody-Ryan Capture Seven Games in Row.

Taking the court during a momentary rift in the rain clouds, Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan appeared eager to wind up the matter in hand before another downpour. They attacked incessantly and won seven games in a row after dropping the first game of the match.

Mrs. Moody showed to much better advantage than in the quarter-finals yesterday, winning all four of her service games without being carried to deuce and teaming well with her veteran partner. Miss Ryan's chop strokes were highly effective.

The Californians now are favored to win the championship by defeating Mme. Simone Mathieu and Mlle. Yvette Barbier, of France, who reached the finals through an unexpected victory over Mrs. Phoebe Watson and Doris Round, of England.

Paired with Jean Borotra, "the Bounding Basque," of France, Miss Ryan advanced to the quarterfinal round in mixed doubles by defeating Mme. Desloges and Antoine Gentien, France, 6—3, 6—3.

Gallant Fox Is Out Of Withers at Belmont

New York, May 23 (A.P.).—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer for William Woodward, announced that Gallant Fox, winner of both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, will not start in the Withers State at Belmont Saturday, May 31.

If Gallant Fox is withheld from the Withers, Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, crack juvenile last year, will be a heavy favorite. Whichone and Gallant Fox probably will meet in the Belmont stakes on June 7.

Nats Resume Pennant Chase Against Red Sox Today; Brown Opposes Lisenbee as Nats Seek 5th Straight Win

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

AFTER a day of rest, the Nationals and Boston Red Sox will resume their series at the Georgia Avenue Stadium this afternoon with a single game listed. The Beaneaters have not beaten Johnson's troupe since the opening day and it is the seven victories which the Nats hold both over them and the world's champion Athletics which have enabled the Washington Club to make such a brilliant showing.

In the hope of making it eight in a row today, Lloyd Brown will draw the home box assignment and, if he is anything like the form he displayed his last time out—against the Athletics last Sunday when he was beaten although allowing but three scattered hits—he is almost sure to turn in his fourth victory of the season. The young southpaw probably will be opposed by Horace "Lizzie" Lisenbee, former National, who went to the Boston crew in the Buddie Myer trade in the winter of 1929.

Lisenbee Not Showing Good Form.

While Lisenbee seemed to have lost much of his stuff while here in 1928 and was a failure last season with the Red Sox, due to a sore arm, he was shunted to Pittsfield, of the Eastern League, later in the season and came through with flying colors. As he is now back to the form which made him popular here when he first joined the Nats, he should force his former mates to the limit.

Should the Nationals win this single game today, they stand an excellent chance of increasing their 3-game league lead, for the Mackmen have to take on the Yankees in another double-header, due to an earlier postponement, and the New Yorkers showed Thursday when they twice beat the A's that they are beginning to hit their stride. Should Johnson's team cop today, the men of Mack would have to take both ends of their double-header in order to narrow the gap between them and the Washington Club.

Nat Pitchers Deserve Credit.

While many fans are raving about the exceptional hitting of the Nationals and are giving this the lion's share of credit for their fine showing, which has seen them ring up nineteen victories as against seven defeats in the 26 games played since the team returned home on April 20, Johnson's pitching staff should not be overlooked.

Of the 34 games which the Nationals have played so far this season, the starting pitcher has gone the route in no less than 16, this record being almost twice as good as that of any of the other clubs in the league. In addition to these 16 games, Lloyd Brown went eight innings Sunday and was withdrawn for a pinch hitter after having allowed but three hits, while Irving Hadley was yanked in the eighth not so long ago as a result of some attempted managerial strategy, although he was in control of the situation at the time.

So, in reality, Washington pitchers may be credited as having gone the

Robins Down Braves; Tie Cards for Lead

Boston, May 23 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins scored their seventeenth victory in 23 games today to gain a tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League, after spending a day in second. They beat the Braves, 6 to 3, by pounding steadily against Ed Brandt and Bruce Cunningham for thirteen hits.

The Robins scored three runs in the fourth inning, only to have Boston equal the rally in the sixth as Walter Berger hit his tenth home run of the year with Sisler on base. Brooklyn scored one run in the first half of the sixth to hold its lead, and two more before the end.

Phils' Late Rally Beats Giants, 9 to 8

Philadelphia, May 23 (A.P.).—For the second time in two days the Phillies put on a late rally to defeat the New York Giants. The score was 9 to 8.

Philadelphia attacked Carl Hubbell in the eighth inning, netting five runs, then staved off a final Giant onslaught. Mel Ott hit his ninth home run of the season with two on base in the Giant half of the ninth, but fell one run short of a tie.

Browns Down Tribe By Late Rally, 5 to 4

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns won their third straight victory over the Cleveland Indians today, coming from behind with a two-run rally in the eighth. The score was 5 to 4.

Heinie Manush's triple was the chief blow in the uprising. Walter Stewart pitched a steady game for the Browns, allowing nine hits, but keeping them well scattered in every inning but the third.

St. Louis made nine blows off Harder, Jablonowski and Wes Ferrell. A great catch by Fred Schulte that cut off a tying run in the ninth was the fielding feature.

Pirates Beat Cubs, 7-6; Spencer Stops Rally

Pittsburgh, May 23 (A.P.).—Glenn Spencer, rookie pitcher, fanned Hartnett and Pinch-Hitter Tolson with the tying run on the sacks in the ninth here today and Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 7 to 6.

Meine worked eight clever innings against the Cubs, but they shelled him heavily in the ninth for three runs before Spencer reached the scene.

TOLAN RACES SIMPSON TODAY

Rivals Qualify in 100, 200 Yard Dashes at Evanston.

DYCHE STADIUM, Evanston, Ill., May 23 (A.P.).—Flashing through a driving rain, George Simpson, Ohio State's great sprint star, served warning today that he intends to establish a new world's record for the 100-yard dash tomorrow and make it stand up without reservation.

The Ohio comet, competing in the preliminaries of the Western Conference outdoor track and field championships this afternoon reeled off the century in 9.7. Simpson threw away his starting blocks which caused the International Amateur Athletic Federation to rule out his performance of 9.4 seconds as a world mark. The Buckeye star will not use the blocks in the finals tomorrow when he races Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan Negro speedster, whose performance of 9.5 seconds established in the Big Ten meet a year ago, was recognized by the Federation as the world's record for the century.

Simpson, Tolan Also Qualify In 220-Yard Dash.

Tolan had no trouble in winning his qualifying heat today in 9.8. He broke the tape about 3 feet ahead of his teammate, Charles Smyth, while Simpson had about the same margin in defeating Ernie Useman, of Illinois. Probably because of the wet footing, it was Tolan who used the controversial starting blocks today, but he may decide to dispense with them in the final tomorrow.

Both Tolan and Simpson also won their preliminary heats in the 220-yard dash. Simpson again made the best time, flirting with world-record performances when he turned in 21 seconds flat for the furlong. Tolen, loafing along at the finish, was caught in 21.8 seconds.

As the preliminaries got under way a light rain was falling, and the air was chilly and raw, forcing the athletes to run under a handicap. The track, however, was not considered slow. It gave indications of being fast tomorrow as the sun began peeping through the clouds before the events were finished. The rain packed the cinders and if the sun shines tomorrow the racing strip will be firm and fast.

Yanks Pound Army Hurlers to Win, 22-2

West Point, N. Y., May 23 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees came to West Point today for their annual exhibition game with the Army Team and departed with a 20-to-2 victory.

Foster Edwards gave the Cadets only five hits while the big league team was making 23 blows off four Army pitchers. The Cadets added six errors to New York's opportunities to score. A home run by Lyn Lary was the hitting feature.

Hockey War Possible As Result of Club Sale

Chicago, May 23 (A.P.).—Tom Shaughnessy, former manager of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, has purchased the Minneapolis Hockey Club of the American Association for $60,000.

Shaughnessy, in announcing the purchase, said he may either move the club to Chicago or form another American Association Club here. If he carries out his plan, the long-anticipated "hockey war" threatens to break out between the minor and major league organizations.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, JR.

WHILE watching two of their athletes break interhigh records, one of nine years standing, Eastern High School students yesterday afternoon saw their track team win its second successive championship at the Central Stadium by one of the most decisive margins in the history of the annual interhigh meet.

Scoring 66 1-3 points, Eastern finished exactly 37 points ahead of the second-place Central athletes, who pulled something of a surprise by beating out the Tech team for the runner-up position. Central scored 29 1-3 points, Tech 25 points and Western 1 1-3 points.

Eastern's victory marks the second successive year that Coach "Mike" Kelley's men have copped honors in track, having given the Lincoln Park School its first interhigh track championship in history in 1929. It also brings to a close the 1929-30 scholastic athletic year with the same teams holding titles which were found bearers last year, Eastern having won the baseball title last Wednesday, while Tech holds championships in football and basket ball.

While Eastern exhibited a well-rounded team which scored heavily in both track and field, it was in the field that Central managed to ease into second place. Outscored 19-14 on the track, Bill Foley's charges took 15 points in the field, while "Hap" Hardell's henchmen could gain but a lone third place.

To Bobby Slye, the 16-year-old, 125-pound member of the winning team, and high-scorer with 15 points must go the laurels for the day. Besides breaking the 120-yard hurdle record, Slye won the 220-yard hurdle event and also finished first in the broad jump.

In setting a new mark of 16 1-5 seconds for the 120-yard hurdle, Slye clipped three-fifths of a second off the time set by Nichols, of Western, in 1921.

Although his team was far ahead, Conrad Allison, also of Eastern, set a new distance in the javelin, the last event of the day, when he reached 162 feet 2 inches.

The record in the 100-yard dash was tied in the first trial heat of the day, when Eddie Quinn, Tech's sprinter, was clocked at 10 flat, tieing the mark of three former performers. The same time has been made by Dick Dear, in 1901; Bryan Morse, in 1905, and Silvester Maxan in 1914. Quinn, although victorious in the final of that event, failed to equal his heat tie, winning first place in 10½ seconds.

Hopelessly out of the running, Tech's adherents nevertheless received some glory when their crack one-mile relay team defeated Eastern's quartet after a sensational neck-and-neck race. After the lead had alternated in the first three laps, Reichman of Tech, and Chester Miles of Eastern, started the final round on even terms. Never more than 10 yards ahead, Reichman spurted on the home stretch to breeze in the victory by five yards.

This same young man was the victor in another thrilling encounter of the day, when he was unexpectedly pressed for honors in the half-mile run. Sent in at the last moment by Coach Mike Kelley just for the purpose of att

SCHMELING CONFIDENT, BUT NOT PREDICTING K. O.

Max Training For Full 15 Rounds

German Working Out for Fight Along Own Plans.

Prefers Live Targets to Practice With Punching Bag.

By MAX SCHMELING
(As told by Jimmy Powers).

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 23.—Today I would like to say a few things about myself that will explain and perhaps straighten out stories that have been written and will be written about me and the coming fight. I am surprised that some Americans do not like Sharkey. He was always nice and courteous to me even when I first came to this country and was just a preliminary fighter. He has never changed his friendly attitude since.

I am glad Jim Corbett, John Risko and Paulino Uzcudun are picking against me. I wish everybody would pick against me. That would make my victory a big surprise and everybody would have something to talk about. Ja, I never punch for big or little bag. They are lifeless things. I'd rather punch at a living person. I do little road work because I am already in condition. I never warm up with punching bags before boxing because the night of the fight in the Yankee Stadium there will be no punching bags. Shadow boxing in the dressing room is enough.

Max Praises American Sportsmanship.

I am surprised every time I hear Americans cheer me. The war is only over about ten years and I am a German, once of the enemy. I think American fans are the most sportsmanlike in the world.

I drink only German water and average two quarts of milk a day. I have more people tell me I am training wrong than any other boxer. I do little running and rope skipping. When the bell rings in Yankee Stadium they are not going to hand me a rope to skip or a bag to punch. They are going to put Sharkey in there, and I must start to work on him.

This will be professional fight No. 50 for me. People tell me I look drawn and underweight. I weighed 190 on board ship. Now I weigh about 189.

For Paulino I weighed 187. Every one says I am too light for Sharkey. When I was in Germany, the newspapermen said I was too fat. Now, they say I am too thin. I have a hard time pleasing everybody.

German Fighter Training For Long Fight.

This is a fifteen-round fight, and I am training for the full fifteen rounds. Paulino was supposed to be a 20-round fighter, yet I was stronger than he was. When I see a fighter getting announced and notice how jumpy he is, I figure his nerves are on edge from bad training. Do you remember how Dempsey used to be? That is not a sign a fighter is afraid.

It is useless to plan a fight. Supposing I worry and plan and work for Sharkey, and the night I get in the ring I find he has crossed me and is using a different fighting style? I will not say I expect to win by a knockout.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LA SALLE, $16.16, $7.54, $7.56; BATTLE SWEEP, $6.10, $4.40; ANTHRO, $9.08.

LA SALLE, away well and under hustling tactics, disposed of RUSTY early and, holding on gamely when challenged by ANTHRO midway of the stretch, began drawing out. BATTLE SWEEP moved up on inside, saved ground entering stretch and, responding well in the drive, outfinished ANTHRO. Latter raced gamely and only weakened last hundred yards. ARTHUR LEE showed a good effort after suffering interference on the turn. CHILLY FLIGHT had no excuses.

THIRD RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:03. Off at 3:04½. Winner, Oakland Farm's b. f. (3), by Sir Clarence—Yalta. Trained by W. C. Weant. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:14 4-5, 1:41 1-5, 1:48 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADY CLARENCE, $15.22, $8.30, $5.92; SPOTLIGHT, $10.30, $6.30; POMPON, $4.22.

LADY CLARENCE, pinched back on first turn and in close quarters to far turn, moved up fast on outside when clear in stretch and, holding on determinedly after reaching the leader, outgamed SPOTLIGHT in hard drive. SPOTLIGHT, slow to begin, as usual, moved up gamely rounding the stretch turn, took command a sixteenth out and, continuing a strong race, was beaten with a shorter ride. POMPON suffered repeatedly from crowding at first turn and was again forced back at head of stretch, but came stoutly when clear last sixteenth.

FOURTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-old fillies. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:37. Winner, Greentree Stable's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—REVERBERATE, $5.02, $2.94, $2.38; PLUMAGE, $3.56, $2.78; OUR NAN, $3.24.

REVERBERATE, away well and finding clear racing room, wore leaders down final hundred yards. PLUMAGE went into the lead right after the start and held on under hard pressure only weakening in last fifty yards. OUR NAN worked way up on inside first three furlongs and, holding on determinedly, outlasted MEXICAN D. in the drive through stretch. Latter, used up forcing the pace, weakened when the test came.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. The Corbin. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:01½. Off at 4:11. Winner, E. B. McLean's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PORT MANTEAU, $187.86, $31.66, $7.44; HONEY LOCUST, $2.92, $2.32; STOCK MARKET, $2.66.

PORT MANTEAU broke well and held HONEY LOCUST safe for speed throughout and, saving ground on inside until reaching stretch, bore out slightly, but came again to outfinish HONEY LOCUST. Latter followed winner's pace entire journey, slipped through on inside all last eighth and, though closing strongly, could not get up. STOCK MARKET was forced wide into stretch, came with a good burst of speed last three-sixteenths, but could not seriously threaten leaders.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:38. Off at 4:40. Winner, A. P. Canale's br. f. (3), by Sea Rock—Anna M. Trained by A. Thomas. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:25, 0:49 4-5, 1:16 1-5, 1:43 1-5, 1:50.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AIMEE GOLDSMITH, $4.64, $3.28, $2.62; SOUTHLAND BELLE, $7.04, $5.16; ILLUSTRIOUS, $7.38.

AIMEE GOLDSMITH, at home in the going, was reserved closely behind SOUTHLAND BELLE until reaching the main stretch and, disposing of latter, easily drew out in final drive. SOUTHLAND BELLE was sent to the front on first turn, saved ground midway of stretch when leaving off slightly when tiring, had enough left to hold ILLUSTRIOUS safe. Latter, never far back, but racing extremely wide last quarter, came with a rush in final drive to close a big gap. PHOTO STAR was under pressure throughout.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Mayor Walker. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:04. Off at 5:04. Two-dollar mutuels paid—UPSEDAISY, $8.80, $4.16, $2.80; SOUTHLAND BOY, $3.58, $2.90; WINSLOW, $3.74.

UPSEDAISY, much the best, followed WINSLOW to five-furlong pole and, going into the lead when ready, easily drew out to win as rider pleased. SOUTHLAND BOY raced well up under steadying restraint, disposed of WINSLOW midway of the stretch, but could not threaten winner. WINSLOW went well, but was tiring badly in the final drive.

Individual Medals for Scores; 2 Trophies Are at Stake.

MRS. WRONG WINS GOLF HONOR

Beats Mrs. Merrill in French Cup Final at Chevy Chase.

MRS. HUME WRONG yesterday won the French High Commission Cup for women in a final round played on the course of the Chevy Chase Club, defeating Mrs. A. S. Merrill in a 34-hole struggle, 3 and 2.

At the conclusion of the first nine holes, Mrs. Wrong was 3 up, but the match was squared when Mrs. Merrill won the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth holes. Mrs. Merrill then lost the fifteenth and sixteenth, but won the seventeenth and eighteenth, making the match again all even. As the competition was a handicap event, Mrs. Wrong having eight strokes and Mrs. Merrill six, a difference of one stroke in the eighteenth, an additional round was immediately played. On the fourth hole Mrs. Merrill negotiated a stymie by chipping over her opponent's ball into the cup to win the hole.

Contestants All Even After 27th.

When the twenty-seventh hole had been played the contestants were again all even. Mrs. Merrill had won the twentieth and twenty-first and Mrs. Wrong had won the twenty-second and twenty-third, with all the other holes halved. They then continued to battle, Mrs. Wrong finally winning on the thirty-fourth hole. In the first round of match play, Mrs. Merrill survived by defeating Mrs. Harrison Brand, jr., in a 27-hole match.

Blacksburg, Va., May 23.—By unanimous vote, the Athletic Council of Virginia Polytechnic Institute this afternoon named Lyal W. Clark, former Western Maryland College star and assistant coach at Baltimore University last fall, as assistant football coach for the 1930 season. Clark will assist Orville E. Neale, former teammate at Western Maryland, as line coach. The new mentors succeed Andy Gustafson and Lee Frank, former Pitt stars, as coaches of the varsity eleven.

Lyal Clark is a graduate of the Sidney High School, Sidney, Nebr., and was graduated from Western Maryland in 1929. He played end on the Terror Eleven in 1925, 1926, 1927 and 1928, and was selected for the all-Maryland teams the three latter years. Like Neale, the new head coach, Clark, followed up a brilliant playing career with a display of unusual talent in his first coaching assignment last fall.

G. U. DEFEATS PROVIDENCE NINE, 8-7

Tierney's Home Run Features in Hilltop's Rally.

Special to The Washington Post.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 23.—An eight-inning rally which netted three runs and was featured by a home run by Tierney, the Georgetown catcher, gave the Hilltoppers an 8-7 victory over Providence College here today.

It was a ding-dong battle from start to finish. The visitors took an early lead, scoring five runs in the first two innings and allowing Providence College but two. Then Hal Poole, Providence lad on the mound for Georgetown, weakened. In the fifth, the home team made two runs and in the sixth two more. Poole was replaced by Lomax in the sixth but in the seventh Providence made still another to gain a 7-6 lead.

Tierney's Homer Wins For Georgetown.

Scalzi doubled to right field in the eighth and was followed by a double from the bat of Bob Wholey. Wholey was rounding second like lightning as the throw came in from center field and when Buckley intercepted the throw and heaved toward home, Wholey kept right on. Buckley's throw was way wide of the plate and both the men scored easily, Wholey with the tieing run.

Then Tierney lifted one of Buckley's offerings over the right field fence for the winning run.

Providence College used pinch-hitters to no avail in their half of the ninth. Lomax holding them in check.

Wash. College Beats Mt. St. Mary's, 4 to 1

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., May 23.—With splendid support behind him, Griffin, veteran hurler of the Washington College Baseball Team, set Mount St. Mary's College back by a 4-to-1 score, striking out man after man and holding his opponents' hits scattered in a game here today that bristled with snappy plays by the local infield.

The Maroon started its scoring in the first inning when Dobson singled to center field and Fitzgerald laid down a two-bagger along the third-base line. Plummer lined out a three-bagger to left field scoring two men ahead of him. In the sixth McCarrigan doubled for the visitors along the first-base line and came home on Connell's double.

Ball Player of 60's Recalls Early Games

Raleigh, N. C., May 23 (A.P.).—Recalling the day way back yonder in 1869 when the Niagaras of Buffalo, N. Y., beat the Excelsiors of New York 209 to 10 in a baseball game, Maj. A. M. Wheeler, who believes himself to be the oldest living professional baseball player, celebrated his 89th birthday. He was captain of the Niagaras.

"It was stated that I was the first catcher who stood close up when a man was on second working for third," Maj. Wheeler reminisced today, "as well as all the time against good clubs."

"Throwing the ball, I think may have been introduced by English cricket bowlers playing our baseball," Maj. Wheeler said, as he described the old method of tossing the ball underhand. "We were badly defeated once by a Rochester Club who had a bowler for a pitcher, who could keep his hand on a level or a trifle below his elbow, which was a regulation to prevent throwing."

Maj. Wheeler was an intimate friend of the captain, "Pop" Anson, of the White Sox and of the late A. G. Spalding.

Maj. Wheeler, a native of Buffalo, N. Y., was at one time postmaster at Danville. For some time he has been making his home here.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., May 23.—Alexandria will play its part in the Joe Judge celebration in Washington on June 28. Judge is popular with the local baseball fans, and from the information received by the local newspaper the fans will do more than their bit to support the popular Washington first baseman.

Jack Tullock, local sports writer, is heart and soul behind this movement in this city and is devoting his time in working out plans for the local fans. Charlie Corbett, manager of the St. Mary's Celtics, has notified Jack that he will play a benefit game against one of Washington's best sandlot teams. Joe Judge is a frequent visitor to Alexandria, while during the past winter he attended a banquet given the St. Mary's Celtics and made a short and inspiring talk.

The Cardinal A. C. Baseball Team will substitute for the St Mary's Celtics when the latter team plays away from home, Heretofore the Cardinals have been unable to play in the city this season, due to the lack of a playing field.

The first outdoor smoker of the Old Dominion Boat Club will be held on June 16, it was announced today by T. Brooke Howard, chairman of the athletic commitee of the local club. Alexandria fans will be interested to know that Billy Schwartz, Alexandria's fighting baker boy, will be the main attraction for the night c... g Tlastmmm eta shrdl mm

Annapolis Junior High Is Won by Lehtinen

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., May 23.—Setting the pace all the way, Andrew Lehtinen, 17-year-old Glen Burnie High School boy, won the third race of the annual junior marathon sponsored by the Capital Gazette Press, publisher of the Evening Capital and Maryland Gazette, today. The race was open to all white boys of the public schools of Anne Arundel County. Lehtinen was trailed by Max Gross of the elementary school of Glen Burnie. The winning time was 48 minutes 48.8 seconds.

Lehtinen took the lead at the outset and held it throughout the 7¾-mile run from Jones Station to Annapolis on the Annapolis-Baltimore boulevard. At the 5-mile mark Gross challenged the winner, but Lehtinen increased his pace and led by 150 yards at the finish. Third place went to little 14-year-old Thomas Bennett, of Annapolis Grammar School. Leo Hantske, in fourth place, was the first finisher for Annapolis High, with David Pollikof, of Glen Burnie Elementary, fifth, and Paul Denleavy, of Annapolis High, the favorite, sixth, just within the prize awards. Sixty-[illegible] started and all but a few finished.

Unbeaten Nines to Clash In Feature League Games

GAMES in which unbeaten nines will combat will hold chief attention among the Capital City League Insect and Peewee clubs on Ellipse and Monument diamonds today. Four of these battles of the unbeaten are listed.

Among the section A Insect nines the Lionels and Spud Colemans are slated to meet. Both of these teams turned back stern opposition in the initial games of last Saturday. In section B of the Insect class the Georgetown and National Capitals will do battle. Both weathered opening hostilities last week.

In the Peewee division the Georgetown and St. Paul's Boys' Club nines meet and the Joe Cronins face the Lionels. These four teams romped off with the victors' spoils a week ago. At the close of hostilities today two of them will be shunted from the undefeated realm.

Corinthians in First League Fray Today.

The Corinthians, minus their late chieftain, Walter J. Newman, will start play today against the Eagles. The Eagles showed class last week, although beaten. A good game is promised on East Ellipse diamond, where the Wonder Boys tackle the Burroughs A. C. Insects.

The Columbians meet the Chevy Chase Cardinals in the other Insect class fray slated. The Clark Griffith-Sterling game has been postponed.

Four teams which bowed in defeat a week ago will engage in the other Peewee class contests carded. The Montrose and Colony Theater nines will clash and the Allens and Cardinals will grapple in these two games.

HIGH SCHOOL CASTS SCORE IN PREMIERE

Alexandria Students Will Repeat Two Plays in Auditorium.

TEACHERS' DINNER HELD

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The premiere of the Endeavors of 1930, given by juniors and seniors of the Alexandria High School, was greeted by a large audience last night in the high school auditorium. There were two plays, both directed by Miss Kroes Ficklin, with Miss Ethel Berkow as musical director; Martin Violette and Harvery Schwarzmann, stage managers; Miss Isabel Darling and Miss Josephine King, business managers; Sigmund Bernheimer, advertising manager, and Miss Dorothy Childress in charge of publicity. Blake Parker was at the door and Franklin Parker and Roy Jenner were in charge of the auditorium. They will be repeated tonight.

Characters were portrayed by Edgar Martin, Sam Parks, Tilton Gaines, Wilson Sinclair, James Luckett, Edward Mills, Martin Violette, Carlin Peyton, Milton Fairfax, Charles Williams, William Smith, Carter Beverley, Charles Stump, Milton Leadbeater, Leonard Jackson, Wycliffe Clagett, Courtland Grimm, Robert Agner, Sigmund Bernheimer, William Snyder, Morris Haywood and Earl Myers.

Jane Norford, Mary Hinton, Doris Dienelt, Elizabeth Apperson, Louise Major, Mary Caton, Dorothy Bowman, Lois Spencer, Catherine Harvey, Christine Morris, Marion Moncure, Doris Ervin, Lyndall Goffey, Ellen Ridgely, Mary Leadbeater, Janet Stultz, Evelyn Hepburn, Margaret Martel, Magdalene Hoeft, Haywood Davis, Louise Plowman, Robert Cohen, James Moriarty, Bernice Fedder, Richard Stultz, Celestine Diener, Catherine Pierpont, Charles Jacobs, Thomas Fairfax, James Flinchum and Stanley Pedder, the baby.

The presentation will be repeated tonight in the auditorium of the high school.

Two "farewell" notes, written with a pencil on pink paper, one addressed to her mother, Mrs. Mary Welch, of 319 Commerce street, and the other to her husband, James Johnson, of 525 Oronoco street, which she dropped from her pocketbook, caused the arrest yesterday of Mrs. Geraldine Johnson, as she was standing on the wharf between Oronoco and Wythe streets, where she had gone supposedly to "end it all." She was later released. Capt. W. W. Campbell finding no ground on which to hold her.

The note addressed to her husband reads, "I love my husband and am going to die for him and jump overboard because I could not get his love." To her mother she wrote, expressing her love, and requesting her not to weep.

Mrs. Johnson stated she left her home about 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and after writing the two notes proceeded to the river front. She admitted yesterday that she had changed her mind about doing away with herself.

Approximately 50 teachers in Alexandria public schools attended a banquet Thursday night in the George Mason Hotel, given by the Alexandria Teachers Association, and presided over by Mrs. Pearle Ranow, as toastmistress. R. C. Bowton, superintendent of schools, delivered the opening address, in which he congratulated the teachers on their meeting. Col. Clarence Deems, professor of military science and tactics in the Alexandria High School, gave a short talk in which he reviewed many amusing incidents in his Army career.

The principal address was delivered by Dr. Bartlett James, of Washington, author and former college professor, who discussed humor, its value in life, its source, and its necessity.

Musical numbers included a violin solo, by Miss Grace Powell; vocal solo, by Clarence Wells; readings, Miss Mary Davis. Mrs. D. C. Book acted as accompanist.

Miss Helen Norris Cummings was reelected president of the Cameron Club at the May meeting and annual election of officers in the George Mason Hotel yesterday. Miss Cummings is also a past president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, is again State chairman of American Citizenship. She is widely known for her outstanding patriotic work in other organizations.

Mrs. Eleanor S. Washington Howard, the last child born at Mount Vernon, and a leader in D. A. R. and other patriotic circles, was chosen vice president of the club; Miss Helen Calvert was elected secretary, and Miss Constance Boush, treasurer. These members gave reports of the State convention in Danville, last week, where they represented the club.

Confederate Memorial Day will be observed here today, the anniversary of the leaving of the Alexandria troops to join their command in the war between the States. The graves of the Confederate dead will be decorated in the forenoon, and at 6 o'clock this evening exercises will be held at the Confederate monument, at Prince and Washington streets. Martin E. Greene will deliver the oration, and R. Samuel Luckett, commander of the Sons of Veterans, will preside.

A meeting of Washington Memorial Lodge of Perfection, Scottish Rite Masons, was held last night to perfect arrangements for the spring reunion, at which a large class of candidates will be initiated, beginning Monday, May 26.

$10,000 LOOT TAKEN IN HOLDUP OF BANK

Bomb Tossed Into Cashier's Car in Course of Robbery at Wheeling.

AUTO WRECKED IN CRASH

Wheeling, W. Va., May 23 (A.P.).—Three bandits held up a bank cashier's automobile and obtained $10,000 here today. The money was being taken from the Citizens Mutual Bank of Wheeling to a Benwood bank by J. W. Johnson, cashier of the latter institution. The money was in two bags, one containing $5,000 in currency and the other $5,000 in silver.

The bandits wrecked Johnson's automobile by crashing into it with their own machine. A tear gas bomb then was thrown into the cashier's automobile and while Johnson and the driver of his car were suffering from the effects of it, the robbers took the money bags.

The robbery occurred at Schad crossing, in the southern section of Wheeling. The bandits fled south in an automobile after the robbery.

Johnson said that when his car reached the crossing an automobile sped out of a side street and knocked his machine against a concrete wall, wrecking it. Two men were in the automobile, he said.

The tear gas bomb was thrown by a man standing on the sidewalk. Johnson said that after the bomb was thrown he was unable to see, but a street car conductor said he saw the three bandits leap into an automobile standing nearby and speed away southward.

The currency consisted of $5 and $10 bills. The money was being taken to Benwood for the day's business at the Benwood bank.

Richmond, Va., May 23 (A.P.).—The News Leader said today that no new chairman of the board would be named to succeed O. J. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, by the directors of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Pere Marquette Railway Cos.

Resignation of Mr. Sweringen, announced yesterday, was made to forestall, the paper said, any criticism regarding interlocking directorates. As chairman of the board of the Missouri Pacific and subsidiaries, Mr. Van Sweringen will devote all his railroad time to solving the problems in connection with the setting up of a Western system.

WARARNT TAKEN OUT FOR BOY IN SMASHUP

Son of Former College Head Accused of Leaving Scene of Prince Georges Crash.

BERWYN MAN BADLY CUT

Warrants charging reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident without stopping to render assistance have been sworn out for Winton Woods, 18 years old, son of Dr. A. F. Woods, former president of the University of Maryland. The youth resides with his father in Berwyn.

The warrants were sworn out by J. E. Cherry, of Berwyn, driver of a car which was struck May 3 by an automobile which failed to stop near Berwyn on the Baltimore boulevard. George Miller, of Berwyn, a passenger in Cherry's car, was seriously injured.

The warrants were issued by Justice of the Peace George Phillips, of Berwyn, and served by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage. A hearing on the charges is scheduled for Wednesday in Hyattsville branch of Prince Georges County Police Court.

According to the story told police by Cherry at the time of the accident, he had attempted to pass a horse-drawn vehicle when he saw an auto approaching at a high rate of speed and which he could not avoid. His car then collided with a telephone pole, throwing Mr. Miller through the windshield. Mr. Miller was taken to Casualty Hospital where it was found that an artery had been severed and that he was very weak from loss of blood.

Police found a bruise mark on the fender of young Woods' car which matched the position of damaged places on the Cherry machine.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA was busy with paper and pencil.

"What're you doing now?" I asked.

Buried in thought, she didn't hear me.

"There," she said, with a final flourish of the pencil, "I have it——"

"Have what?"

"The ad."

These monosyllables.

"The ad? Whatd'ye mean, the ad?"

"If you must be precise," she said, "the advertisement."

"What advertisement?"

"I've written an ad.—to put in the paper."

"For what?"

"To sell the paint brushes——"

* * * *

SECRETLY, I suppressed a smile. This was a crack at my failure to paint the kitchen.

"You can't sell paint brushes by advertising," I told her so.

"No? That's how much you know. You can sell anything if it's properly advertised."

"Who told you that?"

It developed that Luella, downtown one day, had dropped into an advertising convention, to rest after a heavy shopping tour—and Senator Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, was making a speech.

"What does a United States Senator know about advertising?" I asked.

"He used to be a newspaperman once himself," mimicked Luella, chiding me who was once a newspaperman, too.

"And now he's a senator," I sighed.

"Yep," she said, "and he made a speech——"

"Well, you certainly can't call that news!"

"He spoke to the advertising men," she went on, "and told them good advertising could sell the London treaty."

"Who'd buy it?" I asked Luella, and she flared up:

"The same party who'll buy our paint brushes," she snapped, and put on her hat.

"Where are yuh going?" I asked.

"To the newspaper office, to insert this ad——".

* * * *

SUCH waste motion. A good advertising agency would have an office boy for such work, carrying copy—and I told her so.

"You're right," she agreed, taking off her bonnet. "Here! Chase this down to the Oracle, and——"

"Chase what down to the Oracle?"

"This ad——"

"Huh! What d'ye think I am——?"

She smiled: "You're not a painter, anyway, so you might as well be a copy boy. Either that or——"

"Or what?"

"Or get out the paint brushes and go to work on the kitchen."

Rather than make the trip downtown, I started on the paint job. No getting away from it, you've got to humor 'em.

MERGER ADVOCATED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Committee, at Assembly of Southern Church, Urges Union Be Effected.

OFFICIALS ARE CHOSEN

Charlottesville, Va., May 23 (A.P.).—Union with four other branches of the Presbyterian Church was recommended to the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church here today by a special committee headed by Dr. William M. Dobyns, Birmingham, Ala. The four branches are the Northern Presbyterian Church, the United Presbyterians, the Reformed Church in America and the Reformed Church in the United States whose committees have also approved the proposal.

The report urges that the proper committees be instructed to draft a plan to make organic union effective which would be handed down to the presbyteries for ratification.

The General Assembly was urged today to protest against adoption of the "blank day" calendar under consideration by the League of Nations. A petition submitted by the Presbytery of Texas asks that the President and Congress be urged not to approve the principle of the "blank day" involving disruption of the regular course of days of the week including the Sabbath.

Committees Are Announced.

The membership of committees which will shape the work of the General Assembly during the next eight days was announced today by Dr. Thomas W. Currie, moderator, of Austin, Tex.

Uninvited Hoboes End Truants' Camp

Missing Schoolboys Back at Home After Jaunt Into Mountains.

Baltimore, Md., May 23 (A.P.).—A search in three States for three schoolboys who disappeared Sunday was at an end today with the three voluntarily back from the West Virginia mountains, where the noises at night are funny and the hoboes have no manners.

Aid of Virginia, Delaware and Maryland police was asked by their parents when the three, Felton Lyter, 16, City College junior; Lawrence Clark, 16, and Henry Grebb, 15, failed to return from a hike. Last night they showed up with a bundle of camping impedimenta and a leftover supply of provisions.

"I was just tired of sitting in school," Felton spoke for the trio. "It was too nice weather to spend inside So I drew $100 from my bank account Saturday and we started for the mountains Sunday. We pitched camp there and hiked all around.

"The trouble started when a couple of hoboes walked in on us and insisted on staying. After that one of us stood guard all the time, and the noises at night were funny, too. So we finally broke camp, hiked to Harpers Ferry and took a train home."

Features in The Post Tomorrow

Memorial Day features predominate in the tabloid magazine tomorrow. John J. Daly sketches briefly the lustrous history of the Grand Army of the Republic in "A Dwindling Line Marches Again." There are other good features, including a first page of the rotogravure section reflecting the spirit of Memorial Day.

President Hoover has on his desk a remarkable bill and David Rankin Barbee has written an unusual story about it. It is a story about how plants are to be patented just like washing machines, dial phones and nutmeg graters. You will enjoy every line of it.

And here is one that John Hix, who draws the "Strange As It Seems" cartoons, should look into. Natives of Samoa are taxed, not according to their wealth, but according to their height. Edward T. Folliard is the writer.

While the major military engagements of the United States are known to every schoolboy, comparatively few persons are aware that our country has engaged in armed conflict nearly 100 times. The story will be found in the tabloid magazine.

AUTO DECLARED AID TO BELIEF IN SELF

Feeling of Power Stimulus to Rural Dwellers, Professor Says.

MORE CASH IS REQUIRED

Blacksburg, Va., May 23 (A.P.).—The use and control of a powerful machine like the automobile tends to generate a feeling of self-confidence and power on the part of the individual operating it, Dr. W. E. Garnett, professor of rural sociology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, said here today in discussing "Some Social Effects of the Auto." In time this will do much to eliminate the inferiority complex from which farm people have long suffered, he said.

The carry over of this feeling of power into various types of country life situations should mean much to the future, Dr. Garnett continued. For instance, it will help to make rural organizations more easily perfected and through them eliminate some of the injustices under which country life is now laboring. At the same time the speed of the auto, as well as the feeling of power which it generates, increases the impatience of young people at slow results, a fundamental characteristic of country life. It also increases their restiveness at parental authority and restraints.

Autos Build Communities.

Autos with accompanying good roads, Dr. Garnett continued, have done much to break down small neighborhood units and to build up larger communities around the consolidated, or high schools, made possible by the improved transportation facilities. The tendency, stimulated by the auto, for rural trade to go to larger town centers, is still another blow at the life of small neighborhoods.

One of the most far reaching consequences of the automobile and the motor truck, Dr. Garnett pointed out, is their substitution for some 7,000,000 horses and mules, which in turn has released to other purposes something like 18,000,000 acres, formerly required to produce feed for these animals. This situation has aggravated the agricultural surplus problem growing out of other agricultural changes and trends. Thus the automobile, to a considerable degree, has been responsible for the conditions leading to the agitation for farm relief legislation.

More Cash Required.

On angle frequently overlooked is that under present conditions farmers require more cash than formerly There must be relatively large initial cash outlays for the purchase of automobiles and trucks, with the cost of gasoline and oil as a further item of constant outlay.

Under the old conditions horses were raised on most farms, and the food they consumed was to a considerable extent home grown, and hence never figured largely in the ledger, as is the case of outlay for cars, gasoline, oil and repairs. The necessity of increased cash for these new expenditures has been no small factor, in Dr. Garnett's opinion, in the farmer's discontent at prevailing agricultural conditions.

Virginia Convict Escapes Guards

Dodges Into Underbrush as Foreman Turns Back for Moment.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., May 23.—With less than a year left to serve, one of the convicts working on the road between Warrenton and Buckland today tired of construction work and ran, causing the job to be shut down for the rest of the day while a search was made for him.

B. L. Durette, the superintendent of the works, said that the prisoner was working on a bridge with several others, all of whom were short-term men.

While the foreman was showing one of the convicts some detail of the work to be done, the one who escaped dodged into the bushes along the stream and made his get-away. The foreman could not pursue the man, as he had to take the rest of the gang to a guard. Some time elapsed before the pursuit began, and late in the afternoon the missing man had not been captured

Dr. Robert E. Feagans, Fairfax County health officer, has announced that a clinic for children who will enter school for the first time in the coming fall will be started within a short time. The throats, eyes and ears of the children will be examined and if defects are found they will be reported to the parents for correction before the child starts to school. Many Parent-Teacher Associations in the county have gone on record as favoring these preschool clinics.

During the past week Dr. Feagans has been busy giving toxinantitoxin treatments to the children in the schools as a diphtheria preventative. It is reported that a large number of children have been immunized.

The pupils of the Madison elementary school at Falls Church will present their minstrel show again tonight in the auditorium of the Franklin Sherman School at McLean.

Commissioner of Revenue James U. Kincheloe has announced that he will keep his office open next week from Tuesday until Saturday inclusive, in order that persons in Fairfax County might make their last minute tax returns on tangible and intangible property and incomes for the past year.

At a special meeting of the Fairfax County Horse Protective Association, held at the home of Charles Cockrell, president of the association, at Cameron Valley, Va., the members went on record as unanimously indorsing the candidacy of Judge Howard W. Smith for the United States House of Representatives from the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia.

The meeting was attended by a large number of the members and several speeches were made in behalf of Judge Smith.

The association was organized in 1907 for the mutual protection of the farmers of Fairfax County against horse thieves. Judge Smith was one of the founders of the organization and also prepared the by-laws and constitution. As this was a special called meeting, the association will hold its annual meeting in August.

BROWN UP FOR MAYOR

Teaching methods old and new and what the university and Montgomery County intend to do about them was the subject of a talk by Dr. Herbert B. Bruner, director of the bureau of curriculum reform of the Teachers College, Columbia University, yesterday before the Montgomery County County Council of Home and School Associations.

Dr. Bruner spoke before a joint meeting of teachers and parents held in the afternoon at the Rockville High School in connection with the semi-annual meeting of the county council. He outlined the work being done in Montgomery County leading to the revision of the county school curriculum.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. William McBain, president of the county organization, who said in a brief speech that parents and teachers have a great opportunity for service and a great responsibility in the training of children.

Mrs. Somerville Dawson and Miss Elizabeth Choate, both of Rockville, entertained with a piano duet. The delegates from the 42 component associations reported on the work being done by their organizations.

Frederick Brown, member of the present town council, was nominated for mayor at the annual town meeting of Kensington last night in the town hall. Willard Warthan and Hosmer P. Hartshorne were nominated for the two seats on the council which will be vacant for two-year terms. Alfred Geiger, Alfred Ray and Robert Lewis were nominated for the one-year term to fill out Mr. Brown's term. This is the only contested seat.

A resolution offered by Mr. Brown which thanks Mayor Lucien Ernest for his work of the past term in spite of his illness and expressing a hope for his speedy recovery was adopted.

Winchester, Va., May 23.—John Benner, a Frederick County farm manager, was found by relatives shot to death today in the corn house near his dwelling. Authorities and a doctor who investigated said it appeared to be a case of suicide, although Benner appeared bright and happy several hours earlier while at the Grimes Postoffice and store.

One of two notes left by Benner blamed by name a man as being responsible for marital troubles in his family. Sheriff Pannett declined to reveal contents of the letters. They were found written in notebooks spread out on a board in front of a rocking chair, in which Benner sat to fire a shotgun load through his heart.
